COMPLEX ISSUES CONFRONT ROOT.

Oath of Office as Premier Means Great Power Toward Solution of World Problems.

PEACE OF EUROPE FIRST.

Desire of Powers to Avert Bloody Revolution in Russia May Cause Japan to Be Moderate in Terms.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Elihu Root was sworn in today as secretary of state. He did not, however, assume to take the place recently occupied by John Hay. With a sentimentality not always observed in professional life, the chair and desk used by the late secretary of state will be kept vacant, deeply hung with mourning, until thirty days after July 1, when his death came so suddenly at the secretary's New Hampshire home.

It was necessary for Secretary Root to take the oath of office during this month, because there is an old statute which requires that a cabinet place shall be filled within thirty days after the creation of an actual vacancy. Furthermore, there were grave international relations which demanded that the secretary should come on here and be formally recognized. It was intended he should receive the Russian and Japanese envoys in company with the president at Oyster Bay about Aug. 1.

Mr. Root will leave Washington in the morning, his only official act while here being to answer a lot of personal congratulatory mail which had accumulated at the department since his appointment first was announced.

Assumes Charge in September.

As a part of the distinct agreement between the secretary of state and the president he will not be expected to undertake any serious official duties until Sept. 14 at the earliest. He will receive the peace envoys, and in case of emergency will be able to sign the usual executive documents required to be attested by the secretary of state, but the actual work of the department will fall upon Assistant Secretary Adee, the oldest official in this branch of the government service and the depositary of more state secrets than ordinarily are turned over to any one man.

It was an accident, of course, that Mr. Root's first diplomatic caller was Mr. Takahira, the Japanese minister. He dropped in at the department about noon merely as an act of courtesy, but as he is to be one of the envoys in behalf of Japan his prompt call upon the secretary of state may have had more than usual significance.

Mr. Root was installed in the room of Assistant Secretary Loomis, and the oath of office was administered to him by one of the subordinates of the department, there being absolutely no formality about the ceremony. As a matter of course the secretary made no announcement whatever of his policy, except to say that between now and Sept. 1 he would keep in close touch with the department, and return to Washington if anything of importance developed which seemed to require his personal attention.

Talk of Concert of Powers.

In connection with the arrival of the new secretary of state and the call upon him by the Japanese minister, there has been developed a story of a coming European concert of action for the protection of the peace of Russia. While Secretary Hay was abroad, by advice of his physician, he declined to make any official calls upon European diplomats. At the same time there was conveyed to him informally through some of our diplomatic and consular representatives a suggestion that the great powers of Europe would not, in all probability, remain quiet if the revolutionary movement in Russia should develop to a point where it would seem to threaten a complete overturning of established institutions and a consequent bloody massacre.

Had it not been for the unexpected death of Secretary Hay it is likely some such representations might have been made directly to this government. As it is, it can be said the president has been informally notified of the general sentiment which exists among European statesmen. This is that it is more important for the peace of the world to maintain the existing government in Russia than it is to settle the war in the far east on any basis whatsoever.

The public men of Europe have not forgotten the lesson of the French revolution. They remember that Louis and Marie Antoinette, on account of their overconfidence and their false pride, refused all offers of outside assistance until it was too late, so France was drenched with blood and the peace of Europe was upset for more than a generation. A repetition of the French revolution is one thing which Europe dreads today, and they would welcome the yellow peril or any other danger in the east in the face of such a possibility as a bloody uprising of the ignorant and desperate classes in the empire of Russia.

Assurance by Japan?

This feeling may have a good deal to do with the speedy settlement of the difficulties between Russia and Japan. When the Japanese minister called at the state department today it was not with the purpose of consulting the new secretary of state regarding the peace negotiations, and yet in some way it was said by people about the department to have been unusually opportune. It is intimated that Japan, while still unable to agree to a formal armistice, is willing to give something which approaches to an assurance that no serious fighting shall take place so long as the Russians seem to be earnestly moving in the direction of a formal treaty of peace.

There is a belief here that some gentle pressure has been exercised upon the Japanese to induce them to agree to a condition which will permit the Russian government to devote all its energies to a restoration of peace in its European dominions, leaving the settlement of the war in Manchuria to take care of itself.

It probably is going too far to say there has been any agreement looking toward a concert of action for the protection of the domestic peace of Russia. Yet at the same time it is true, as Secretary Hay was informed and as Secretary Root undoubtedly understands by this time, that the foreign office of every great European government believes it to be immensely important that all active hostilities in the far east shall be stopped at the earliest possible moment, not to preserve the prestige or honor of Russia, but to enable the czar to bring home the veteran regiments which have not yet become

TO FREE RUSSIA FROM THE CZAR.

Zemstvos Congress Defies Trepoff and Meets at Moscow Under the Protection of Prince Dolgorouki.

PLAN FOR A CONSTITUTION

Autocracy's Doom Sounded in Demand for a Parliament and a Limited Monarchy.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MOSCOW, July 19.—Defying Gen. Trepoff and the autocracy, 225 delegates to the zemstvos congress met today at the palace of Prince Dolgorouki to take the preliminary steps to secure a constitution and a parliament from the czar.

Intense interest attaches to the congress, for it has been rumored that under the lead of Prince Dolgorouki it would propose the immediate abdication of the czar and the government of Russia by a regency until the infant son of Nicholas reaches his majority.

Prince Dolgorouki, although an aristocrat, an immensely wealthy man, and the marshal of the Moscow nobility, is one of the leaders of the liberal party in Russia. He opposes revolution, but declares there must be an end to the bureaucracy. He favors a constitution and a definitely limited monarchy of the German or British order, with a parliament.

Will Demand a Parliament.

The congress is to discuss a plan of government for Russia modeled upon the English and German systems. Its principal features are:

1. The czar to retain the right to veto all legislation, without any expressed limitation of his prerogatives as a sovereign. He is to retain command of the army and navy.

2. A cabinet on the British model, with a kanzler or prime minister at the head; the prime minister to be summoned by the czar and to select the cabinet ministers.

3. A parliament of two chambers of 840 members to be elected; representing the whole empire without regard to creed or race.

4. Legislation to rest with parliament alone; in the event of persistent rejection in one chamber of a bill initiated in the other, a joint assembly of both to settle it.

5. National finances are placed under control of the chambers, whose members will have the right to impeach the ministers.

6. The budget to be passed first by parliament, then accepted by the semsky sobor, before it is presented to the czar.

7. Parliament to have right to fix the succession to the throne and to fix sovereign's civil list at beginning of his reign.

8. The constitution abolishes the passport system, the secretary of correspondence, and the censorship.

9. The sanctity of the courts is provided for by special clauses.

10. The czar is prohibited from arbitrarily dissolving parliament.

11. Members of parliament are prohibited from accepting decorations or orders from the sovereign without immediately seeking reelection.

Trepoff Ready to Crush Congress.

Gen. Trepoff will stop the discussions of the zemstvos congress if it becomes too radical. The fact is so well known that the delegates already admit that the congress will be able to accomplish little.

M. Golovine, president of the organizing committee, had barely started a statement dealing with the obstacles placed in the way of the congress, announcing that Gov. Gen. Kozloff had promised that there would be no recourse to extreme measures, when it was announced that the police were below with an order to disperse the meeting.

Prince Dolgorouki suggested they be invited to enter. Five police officers thereupon appeared. Their chief demanded that the assembly be closed in accordance with the prefect's order forbidding such meetings, on the ground they were calculated to produce disorder.

Laugh at Order to Disperse.

This statement was greeted with laughter. Count Heyden pointed out that the meeting was acting with the czar's authority, as personally expressed by his majesty on June 19, and he therefore refused to obey the order.

Some more hot headed delegates shouted taunting remarks. Prince Dolgorouki interposed, saying:

"The policemen are only doing their duty. Let us do ours and proceed to business without wasting any time."

Count Heyden protested against the proceedings, but the chief of police began taking the names of the delegates. Then cries were raised of "Write down the whole of Russia."

Many persons present who were not delegates to the congress requested that their names also be taken. The police then departed in order to draw up summonses and the business was resumed.

Bouligin Plan Denounced.

The scheme of a national assembly on the basis outlined by the committee presided over by M. Bouligin, minister of the interior, was minuteiy and critically discussed and denounced as totally inadequate to remove Russia's internal grievances, because, including a property qualification and an electoral system by classes, it prevented the assembly from truly interpreting the will of the nation, while the exclusion of numerous categories of citizens from the franchise was a contradiction of the principles of equity and reasonable state policy.

At the same time it was recognized that the proposed assembly would comprise a considerable portion of the social forces of the empire and serve as the center of a social movement, which would tend to secure political liberty and regular national representation. Therefore it was considered desirable that in the event of the carrying out of the Bouligin or a similar project the delegates of the zemstvos and municipalities should participate to the assembly to the greatest possible extent, with the object of forming a compact group and to obtain a guarantee of individual and public liberties.

Numerous resolutions embodying the foregoing criticisms were adopted unanimously, as were also resolutions complaining of excessive administrative and police control of elections and insisting that publicity be given to the proceedings of the proposed assembly which should be in direct relations with the emperor without interference from the council of the empire.

BIRD CENTER SOCIETY TO TAKE A TRIP ABROAD.

[From the Bird Center Argosy.]

IT is with pleasure that ye Editor chronicles the announcement that a goodly quota of Bird Center society leaders purpose taking a European tour ere long.

Among those who will constitute the pilgrimage are Mrs. Riley Withersby, our beloved leader of local society; Reverend Walpole and wife and children under nine years of age; Captain Roscoe Fry and wife, Mr. J. Milton Brown and wife (nee Lucile Ramona Fry, formerly daughter of Captain Fry) and little J. Milton Brown Jr. Also Mr. Smiley Greene, the popular undertaker, and wife and children; Mr. Riley Peters and Miss Myrtle Prute of Muncie, Indiana; the Misses Flossye and Mae Niebling, Mr. Ernest Pratt, Mr. Elmer Pratt, Mr. Wilbur Fry, and Mr. Orville Peters. Quite a goodly party, say you not?

It is safe to say without exaggeration that the local social circles are agog with pleasant anticipation. At first it was understood that only Mrs. Withersby contemplated going abroad, and for that reason she gave a small function last evening to announce the fact, but others volunteered to accompany her, and the party grew apace quite rapidly.

Late in the evening, just before refreshments were served, Mr. Gus Figgey of Chicago arrived and joined the group.

"I just came in on the hundred hour limited from Decatur," he announced, buoyantly, "and thought I'd drift up and join the merrymakers. What's going on?"

Mrs. Withersby explained that some of the party were talking over a trip to Europe.

"Count me in," said Mr. Figgey. "I haven't had a vacation for three years, and I'm going to have one this year if the country goes plumb to smash. What's the route?"

"We have planned to go to Scotland and the English lakes," said Mrs. Withersby, pleasantly.

"I can figure out a better trip than that," said Mr. Figgey. "First we'll go to London and show those Britishers a touch of high life, then skip over to Paris, thence to Venice, and circle around to Rome. Them's the four great show places of Europe, and no tour is complete without 'em."

"But, Mr. Figgey——"

"Now, I'll tell what we'll do," said the genial Mr. Figgey. "I'll get some inside rates from a friend of mine in the importing business, and I'll guarantee that when we get through Europe will feel that she's been seen good and proper."

"Have you ever been abroad, Mr. Figgey?" inquired Mrs. J. Milton Brown.

"No, but I've traveled all over this country, making all the important towns, and what I don't know about traveling could be put in an expurgated French novel."

"I'd like to stop at Niagara Falls, Mr. Figgey," said Elmer Pratt.

"Sure, the train slows down there and we can see the falls just as well as if you spent an hour."

"And won't it be beautiful in Venice," said Miss Myrtle Prute. "I've always been crazy to see Venice by moonlight."

"We'll see it by moonlight, candle light, and daylight, Miss Prute. Orville and Wilbur can take their mandolins and we'll have a tune on the dancing waters. Hot stuff, eh?" said Mr. Figgey, slapping Reverend Walpole on the back.

The party adjourned at a late hour, Mr. Figgey promising to arrange all the details, etc. Various members of the party will tell their experiences exclusively in the Bird Center Argosy.

HAS A MAD OVER TEACHER.

Effect of Myra Kelly's Engagement on One of Her Pupils.

SHE COULD TO WED A KRISHT.

Her Loafer Has Land So Big as a Park, Mit Rubber Neck Birds.

"Miss Bailey, O Miss Bailey, you can never be haughty and lofty again, for you met that horrid man in open battle and went weakly down before him."—"The Prince of Hester Street," by Myra Kelly.

BY MORRIS MOGILEWSKY.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—I could to have a glad on this vacation, but I ain't. I got a mad. I got a feelings in me that ain't healthy. My mamma gives me pennies to buy real from pink ice cream, but I don't to want no real from pink ice cream, though real from pink ice cream is awful stylish in round from paper boxes.

I could to have gone to Central park again to see the rubber neck birds and the real water-lake, but I ain't to got healthy feelings. I ain't got a sickness that I lays on the bed and comes the doctor, but I got a bump from down in my breather.

Walking, Mit Loving Looks.

It's all about teacher. Yiss, ma'am. Teacher could to marry a Krisht. Yiss, ma'am. I seen her mit a man walking mit lovin' looks. I know when folks have a loving mit, und I could tell she had kind feelin's over him. Once I had an auntie makes such lovin' looks on a salesman—he's now floorwalkers—und sooner she marries mit him.

Nathan Spiderwits, he sees teacher mit the Krisht, and the how he carries the real silk from umbrellas over her mit lovin' looks, and Nathan, he says she marries maybe, already. I says, "Ain't it that your papa marries your mamma," und he says he don't know, but it could to be, unt I says, "Does his papa carry real silk from umbrellas over his mamma mit lovin looks?" und he says no, his papa makes a growl at his mamma und sits in his near to wool stockin's mit the stove und smokes by his pipe.

He Don't Make a Growl.

Unt I says it's fierce to say that teacher marries already when he don't make a growl at her, und he says maybe his mamma and papa ain't married. I says, "No; my papa and my mamma is married, and my papa don't make lovin' looks mit my mamma. My papa has to got a kind feelin's on my mamma, but not to make lovin' looks and carry real silk from umbrellas."

No, teacher ain't married yet. No, ma'am. But she'd just as lief go and get married, but her mamma has a mad on teacher's loafer. I don't know why her mamma ain't got a glad on him less it's because he could to be a Krisht. Teacher she say she's a Krisht, but she could to look like a stylish Sheeny, and I tell her, "No, teacher; it's a lie. You ain't a Krisht."

Real Stylish, Like Floorwalkers.

So-o-o, when I ask teacher to explanation it if she could to be married she laughs and says to me that we always tries to get her married and maybe some day if she gets a glad mit a man—a real stylish man like a floorwalkers—mit real to patent leathers and all from wool pants, she could to marry mit him.

This loafer I see her walkin' mit lovin' looks has all from wool pants und I knows that teacher can't to teach next year. For that I have a feelin's that ain't healthy, and I have a mad on this vacation. My papa he reads by the papers and he says that teacher gets married. It is down in the papers that her loafer has land so big as Central park, mit rubber neck birds, and real from milk cows, and horses from carriages. Und he says teacher can't to teach because she will to get the milk from the real to milk cows and to feed the horse from carriages.

He reads by the papers that teacher gets married and so we have a new teacher, and maybe I cannot to be the monitor of the gold fish bowl no more. So-o-o, I can't to have a glad this vacation.

MRS. LOGAN OFFERS STATE HER HISTORICAL COLLECTION

Is Composed of Articles Closely Connected with Career of Her Husband —Gov. Deneen Replies to Proffer.

Springfield, Ill., July 19.—In a letter received today by Gov. Deneen Mrs. John A. Logan formally tendered the valuable historical collection owned by her to the state of Illinois.

The collection, which is closely connected with the life of Gen. John A. Logan and the history of the country and the state, is now in memorial hall at Mrs. Logan's house in Washington.

In acknowledging receipt of the letter Gov. Deneen, on behalf of the state, expressed his thanks for the generous offer, and assured Mrs. Logan that in his official capacity he would bring the question of providing a permanent home for the collection before the general assembly in a message to that body.

URGES BLUE LAWS IN PARKS.

Pastor E. B. Stewart Denounces Athletic Sports on Sunday.

SAYS BOARD BREAKS LAW.

South Commission Defers Action Till First Meeting in Fall.

A bitter denunciation of the opening of the parks to Sunday athletic sports was received by the south park commission yesterday from the Rev. E. B. Stewart, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Forty-sixth street and Evans avenue, and his congregation.

Several commissioners wanted to lay the communication on the table, but after some discussion action on it was deferred till the first meeting in September.

Mr. Stewart, in his communication, expressed enthusiastic admiration for the south park system, especially for Washington park, which, he said, was the most beautiful in America.

Calls City Amusement Mad.

"It is hard for me to say," he continued, "what I felt when I read that you had decided to put my pet institution in the ranks of the evildoer, the law breaker, the amusement mad, and sin blinded mob of this city and country, and that, too, at a time when there is a growing sentiment in favor of law and order. We have an insane demand for amusement that seems never to be satisfied. Any one who knows me will say that I am in favor of any and all legitimate pursuits of pleasure, but we have now our million dollar White City and even a $10,000,000 hippodrome talked of, and millions more which, according to a late magazine article, are wasted annually in an extravagant pursuit of amusement."

After setting forth at some length what he declares the park commissioners "seem to have forgotten about the bible," Mr. Stewart continued:

"You may still choose to disregard the will of the people who are striving against great odds to build up a community about you. You may willfully ally yourselves with that which is destructive of religion and morality. You may forget God. But you will never prosper as you have in the past. In what way that should come to pass I cannot tell, but as sure as God lives and reigns it will prove to be true.

"I speak not only for myself but for my congregations, to which I referred the matter."

Thinks Stewart Also Forgets.

"Mr. Stewart tells us of the many things we 'seem to have forgotten.' I think we should send him a communication and tell him what he 'seems to have forgoten,'" was the declaration of Commissioner Rainey.

"He seems to have forgotten that Sunday is the only day of recreation for the majority of working men; seems to have forgotten that these amusements we provide are not in the same class with those he has mentioned; seems to have forgotten that they keep many persons away from places of evil; seems to have forgotten many other sensible things that might be mentioned in favor of the park board's action."

Mr. Rainey urged that the communication be tabled, but on motion of H. G. Foreman action was deferred.

Big Attendance Reported.

A report for June from Supt. Foster, showing the popularity of the new small parks, was adopted by the board. It shows total attendance in gymnasiums of 30,244 persons; 38,600 persons used the shower baths. The swimming pools in Armour and Davis squares were visited by 82,374 men and boys and 4,500 women and girls. The reading rooms in the four parks were patronized by 18,911 persons.

Supt. Foster explained that these figures represented only part of the month of June, and that the figures for July would be much larger, as especially during the recent period of excessive heat the attendance had nearly doubled.

DRIVERS TO VOTE ON ENDING STRIKE

Clamor of Rank and File Forces Teamsters' Joint Council to Order a Referendum.

ALL LOOK FOR PEACE.

Store and Express Men Ballot Today and Their Leaders Urge Calling Off Struggle.

The fate of the teamsters' strike of a hundred days will be determined today by referendum ballot. Recommendations were made at 1 o'clock this morning by the teamsters' joint council that the long labor war be ended, and unless all signs fail peace will be established within three or four days.

Every union involved in the strike will vote on calling it off. The department store and the express drivers will give their decision this evening. Whatever action is taken by them probably will be followed by the truck and coal teamsters, who will vote on Sunday.

The teamsters' council practically was forced to order the referendum vote. In point of noise and excitement the session was the stormiest during the strike. The strikers clamored for hours around the meeting hall at 145 Randolph street, demanding freedom to return to work.

Try to Batter Down Doors.

At one time, near midnight, an attempt was made by a crowd of department store drivers to batter down the doors where the joint council was in session. In anticipation of rioting and recalling Sunday's slugging, the police had been held in large reserve force at Central station and three patrol wagons were in readiness to respond should trouble occur.

President Shea at the height of the excitement rose in the joint council meeting and delivered a speech which could be heard a square away. Again in the meeting of the department store drivers, which followed the council session, he sang what may prove to be his swan song. Both times he sought vainly to keep the strike going on the present basis. The tremendous upheaval of sentiment unfavorable to the conduct of the strike drowned his voice repeatedly.

Store Drivers Force Issue.

It was the department store drivers who forced the issue. At the opening of the council meeting they informed the delegates that they would insist upon one of two actions—the calling of a general strike or the ending of the present struggle. In this the State street drivers were backed by the express drivers, who also were present in numbers.

The clamor of the strikers nearly provoked a general walkout. Albert Young in the heat of the discussion proposed to rent a lot at Loomis and Harrison streets and call a mass-meeting of all the union teamsters in Chicago tonight. His plan was to have the wheels of every wagon in the city stopped on Monday morning. Shea and Young both said after the meetings that this plan would be adopted if the rank and file refused to end the strike by referendum today.

Leaders of Locals Say "End It."

The leaders of the local unions, however, believe that today will mark practically the finish of the struggle. Many officers announced that they intend openly to advocate the ending of the strike.

"The strike will die tomorrow night," said President Mulligan of the express drivers. "I shall advise my men to vote it off. We have lost and that's all there is to it."

Business Agent T. J. Ryan of the department store drivers and Jerry McCarthy of the truck drivers earlier in the day had acknowledged defeat and had forecast their attitudes should a referendum vote be taken.

Shea's Words Rouse Anger.

Earlier in the evening at the teamsters' joint council session a riot nearly occurred. The delegates were discussing the demands of the State street drivers that four additional unions—the truck, South Water street, van, and parcel delivery drivers—8,000 in all, be called out on Monday morning. In tones that could be heard a square away Shea's voice rang out in protest:

"If you can't win the strike with the men already out, I advise you to call it off. Even if we lose the 4,000 men now on strike, our organization will still remain intact and we can reorganize in six months."

The sign of weakness in Shea's speech fired the department store men.

"Burst in the door. Let's tell him what we think of him," clamored the crowd outside.

A rush was made for the door and it creaked on its hinges. Four policemen stationed below ran up the stairs and quieted the strikers. There was a scuffle, however, in the hallway and several leaders, among them being Albert Young, W. J. Kelly, and Bernard Mulligan, narrowly escaped rough treatment.

Get Clew to "Slugger" Band.

A new task in the search for the "sluggers" who attacked Michael Donnelly and wrecked the Chicago Federation of Labor election last Sunday was adopted yesterday by State's Attorney Healy. In coöperation with the police the state's attorney took steps to apprehend the eight armed men who had a part in the assault. The labor leaders, it is said, will not be asked to give evidence until these men have been captured.

A line on the identity of the octet of "sluggers" already has been secured by the police, it is said. By catching one or more of the "wrecking crew" State's Attorney Healy hopes to extract a confession and thus obtain more information than could be secured by grand jury questioning.

"I realize that it is difficult to get facts from the labor people," said Mr. Healy. "We are pursuing a course, however, in this investigation which will yield results just the same. I can't say much about the nature of our inquiry, for the time is not yet ripe."

Avoid Reference to Affair.

The executive board of the federation of labor at its meeting studiously avoided reference to the Donnelly affair. It was expected that a report of the election disturbance would be prepared to be submitted to the next meeting of the labor body. The seven members, E. R. Wright, J. P. Fitzgerald, J. J. Larkin, Charles Willbrandt, E. N. Nockels, Barney Cohen, and President Dold, simply held a short conference, transacted routine business, and adjourned.

"It is not the function of the executive board to make a report on the election," said President Dold after the meeting. "The judges of election probably will report to me, and I will announce the facts to the federation. No action in the meantime is contemplated."

THREE A MAJORITY ON RIDDLE CLAIM

That Number of Members of Old West Park Board Send to Arbitration.

SHOWN BY THE MINUTES.

Bill of Attorney Sheridan Smuggled Through with Routine Matters.

An examination of the west park board record shows that the claim of Attorney Francis A. Riddle for $15,000 "extra fee" was ordered submitted to arbitration at a meeting attended by only four of the seven commissioners. One of the four voted against it.

Judge Honoré now has the claim under consideration, as the result of the favorable votes of Fred A. Bangs, then president of the board, and of Andrew J. Graham and Edward H. Peters, then commissioners. James F. Stepina voted and talked against it, and Frederick Schultz, Adam Szwajkart, and Charles Lichtenberger were absent.

At this time the board had the information direct from Gov. Deneen that action would be taken against the commissioners if they paid the claim.

No further steps have been taken towards overhauling the accounts of the old board as yet, President Eckhart not having contracted with accountants for the work. The only examination which has been made has been of the minutes of the board meetings.

Action on Riddle's Claim.

By these it is shown that at a meeting on Dec. 30, 1908, the question of paying Attorney Riddle was brought up. In this connection one of the old members of the board quotes Mr. Bangs as saying:

"Riddle hasn't a ghost of a claim, but I want to treat him as decently as possible."

E. A. Munger appeared as Riddle's attorney and suggested that the matter be referred to a committee of three arbitrators, of whom Bangs should select one, Riddle one, and the two select the third. Stepina and other commissioners opposed this and when it was voted on it failed to pass, Stepina, Lichtenberger, and Szwajkart voting against it.

Andrew Graham renewed the proposition, bringing it up at a meeting held on June 27. It was proposed then that the claim should be referred to one of the judges of the Superior or Circuit court under the state law for the submission of questions to arbitration. This proposition was carried, as stated, by the votes Graham, Peters, and Bangs, Stepina voting no and the others being absent.

James Jay Sheridan's $6,000.

In addition to this it is asserted that the payment of $6,000 to Attorney James J. Sheridan for legal services was smuggled through with routine bills, being referred to the finance committee, consisting of Graham and Bangs. As customary with routine bills the committee had power to act, and Mr. Sheridan received his fee. Some of the other commissioners say they had no knowledge of the transaction.

Another financial transaction of the board which is questioned was the payment of $10,000 to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad for the widening of the subway at North Sacramento avenue from 35 to 60 feet.

"Such things as these will be the only transactions uncovered by an examination of the accounts of the board," said a west side politician during the day. "The accounts were audited every six months, and they are all right. If the examiners go far enough back they may find that the 'reform elements' were not blameless."

It is announced as probable that Alonso Wyman will continue to be treasurer of the board. When Fred Blount was relieved of this responsibility the Morley reorganizers had all manner of trouble in taking care of the warrants which he held against the board, but arrangements finally were made to take them up. With these impediments the treasurership is not regarded as an office likely to be changed often.

Prospective Appointments.

Supt. Foster of the south parks has an assistant whom he recommends to the west park board as a man qualified to undertake the work of park superintendent. Although the new commissioners do not know his name they are trying to learn about his qualifications.

Delavan B. Cole will be displaced as park board attorney. Two men are mentioned to succeed him, Gail E. Deming and Benjamin F. Richolson.

J. Ham. Lewis' Faux Pas.

Corporation Counsel James Hamilton Lewis takes it on himself to announce that a "faux pas" has been made in north side democratic politics, and that he made it. Mr. Lewis affirms that the crafty James Quinn "handed him one" when Charles Bradley was appointed attorney of weights and measures, and assigned to duty as prosecuting attorney at East Chicago avenue. Mr. Lewis says he thought he was appointing a friendly Indian, although he had nothing to do with the assignment of the attorney to the police courts. Developments now show that the Twenty-first ward organization is wroth, not only that a man from the Twenty-fifth ward should have been given the place at the police court but that he should be the wrong kind of a democrat.

H. A. Haugan Would Decline.

There seems to be some prospect that the presidency of the Lincoln park board will go begging, as the west park did. President H. A. Haugan of the State Bank of Chicago said that he could not take the place.

"It has not been offered to me," he said, "but if it were I could not take it."

North side republicans have a list of candidates to submit to the governor on his next visit to Chicago.

RECEIVER IN BUCKET SHOP CASE

Judge Bethea Grants Mrs. Sticktenoth's Petition and Ties Up Sidmon McHie's Money in Bank.

Mrs. Amanda E. Sticktenoth of Cincinnati, who has been holding a judgment for $8,000 against the old Central Stock and Grain exchange, yesterday secured a receiver in the United States court for Sidmon McHie, who was a stockholder in the old company.

Mrs. Sticktenoth's attorneys appeared before Judge Bethea and made this new move in the effort to secure money said to have been used by her husband in bucket shop speculation. The judge appointed the Equitable Trust company receiver and temporarily enjoined the Chicago National bank from releasing McHie's money.

"The records show," said J. J. Kern, Mr. McHie's attorney, "that nearly three years ago the corporation was dissolved, that all its debts were paid, that all of the necessary publications were made, as provided by statute, and upon this showing the secretary of state dissolved the corporation. I understand that the corporation's liabilities to be sued expires two years after its dissolution. This is according to section 117 of the Illinois corporation act."

MAYOR PROLONGS HIS VACATION

Fails to Return to Take Up His Official Duties as Had Been Expected.

Mayor Dunne failed to return yesterday from his vacation outing. It was reported in the city hall yesterday that he probably will remain away until next week. It is said he does not see any necessity of returning so soon. It also is probable that A. B. Dupont, traction expert of Detroit, who is to assist the executive in traction matters, will postpone his arrival until the mayor himself returns.

POOLROOM SHIP TO SAIL.

PROTECTED BY A FEDERAL COURT TEMPORARY ORDER.

Wireless Telegraph Company Obtains Injunction Against Interference by City Authorities with the City of Traverse—Judge Sustains the Bill Drawn Up by J. Hamilton Lewis Before He Became Corporation Counsel.

Relying on a federal court temporary injunction, the steamship City of Traverse will cruise on the lake today and receive racing news from the American-De Forest Wireless Telegraph company, as before the police raided the offices of the telegraph company in the Railway Exchange building.

Judge S. H. Bethea in the United States court late in the afternoon issued an injunction restraining Mayor Dunne, Chief O'Neill, Assistant Chief Schuettler, and their officers and agents from interferring with the business of the wireless telegraph company in any way.

Former Judge Elbridge A. Haney, counsel for the telegraph company, raised the point that the city has not the power to interfere with interstate commerce in the form of messages sent from state to state by means of the telegraph company, and he was upheld by the court. Assistant Corporation Counsel J. W. Beckwith defended the suit for the city.

Judge Outlines the Situation.

Judge Bethea declared that although he does not believe in gambling in any form, under the law he had no other course than to issue the temporary injunction. He said the wireless telegraph company clearly is engaged in interstate commerce business, and the federal statutes protect it, as is the fact in regard to other telegraph companies. He did not enjoin the city as a corporation, but suggested the insertion of the names of Mayor Dunne and the chief of police.

"It is admitted in this case that the interstate commerce has been interfered with in the tearing out of these telegraph instruments," said the judge. "Congress, in protecting interstate commerce, admits of no interference from the state. The court regrets interfering with the police in the suppression of gambling, but if the state laws are being violated there is a way to stop it, by taking the property of the gamblers from them or the arrest of the offenders. The government says a telegraph company has the right to send telegrams even if they are for gambling posurpes."

Bill Drawn by J. Hamilton Lewis.

The original bill of complaint was drawn up by the present corporation counsel, James Hamilton Lewis. When he became the head of the city's law department he withdrew as counsel for the telegraph company to be succeeded by Attorney Haney, and his name was signed to the answer filed by the city to the original bill.

The decision did not surprise Assistant Chief Schuettler, who was in the courtroom.

"I am not surprised at the turn of affairs," said the assistant chief. "A few days ago one of my men told me that the gamblers were confident of winning.

'Bud' White has been heard to say that his ship is ready for action, and will take up the business again tomorrow. This decision does not mean that we will stop the fight by any means."

Manager W. H. Ocker Explains.

W. H. Ocker, manager of the De Forest company, said the company's attitude toward the city was not one of hostility.

"We merely want the right to operate our wireless telegraph system and handle business brought to us," he said. "We are not engaged in conducting poolrooms or fighting for their maintenance. If gamblers are violating the law there ought to be some way to reach them without interfering with us."

TWO TRY TO REGAIN HATS: ONE LOSES LIFE, OTHER ARM.

Policeman Eggers of Hammond Killed by Train in Sight of Sons—J. Flockhart, South Chicago, Injured.

Trying to recover their hats, which had been blown off, caused two men to be struck by trains yesterday.

While taking his two sons on a fishing trip to Lake Michigan, Policeman Fred Eggers of Hammond was killed by a west bound train on the Pennsylvania railway. He had warned his boys to keep out of the way of the train. As it reached the crossing Eggers' straw hat blew off; he tried to recover it, slipped and fell against the cowcatcher, and was hurled 120 feet. Every bone in his body was broken.

John Flockhart of South Chicago went to Kankakee on a picnic excursion conducted by the South End and South Chicago Business Men's association, and was run over by a switch engine and five cars in the Big Four yards. He was formerly a switchman and was riding on the footboard of an engine when, in trying to recover his hat, he lost his balance and fell in front of the engine. He lost an arm and his right foot was crushed. He is still alive.

HOLDUP MEN DRIVEN OFF BY METROPOLITAN "L" AGENT.

Two Youths Try to Rob St. Louis Avenue Station, but James Kelly, Ticket Seller, Fires on Them Instantly.

Two young men tried to hold up the St. Louis avenue station of the Metropolitan Elevated railway at 1 o'clock this morning, but were driven off after an exchange of shots.

James Kelly, 22 years old, was alone in charge of the station, and was counting receipts, which, with money brought in from stations further west, amounted to $400.

The wouldbe robbers arrived and, with drawn revolvers, ordered Kelly to turn over the cash to them. Instead he fired on them, having a weapon handy and concealed from their view. They returned the shots, but did not strike Kelly. Then they turned and ran.

A Garfield park train arrived, and the passengers were startled by the firing. Some of them joined in the search, but no clew to the wouldbe robbers was found.

400 ASSESSMENTS ARE REDUCED

Board of Review Hears Many Complaints of Excessive Valuation from Householders.

F. W. McIntosh, 1862 Magnolia avenue, a mill agent, complained to the board of review yesterday that the assessment on his office furniture at 181 Lake street was excessive, and said his personal property there was not worth $10. He also complained that a $900 assessment on his personal property at his home was $550 more than it was worth. The assessment of $1,000 on his office was extinguished, but he failed to convince the board that he had only $50 in property value at home, and was assessed $600.

The assessment of $350 on the office property of Alonzo W. McArthur, a bond broker at 285 Dearborn street, was wiped out, but he also failed to convince the board that the personal property at his home, 1952 Kenmore avenue, was worth only $100, and was given an assessment of $400.

Nearly 400 adjustments were made by the board during the day, most of them being small household complaints of excessive assessments which were materially reduced or wiped out altogether. The majority of complaints heard were on assessed property valuations ranging from $300 to $1,000.

PRIEST REMOVED AFTER CONFESSION

Father Erhard, Blackmailed and Disgraced, Is Taken from Parish.

ENTIRE STORY EXPOSED.

Police Expect to Discover Plots of Similar Character Worked by Gang.

The Rev. Lawrence A. Erhard, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Epiphany, admitted yesterday that he had been removed from his charge by Archbishop Quigley, following his confession of the crime which led to his being blackmailed by the gang of constables and lawyers in the building at 119 La Salle street. The priest will finish his work in the little parish on the far west side this week, and on Sunday his place will be filled by the Rev. J. E. Madden, assistant in St. Gabriel's church on West Forty-fifth street. It is expected that Archbishop Quigley will return from Rochester, N. Y., next Monday and send the disgraced priest to a monastery.

With the priest's confession the entire story was revealed, exposing once more the operations of constables and justices of the peace in Chicago, and turns over for public enlightenment a nest of blackmailers.

Confesses Facts in Case.

Following the arrest of Justice Isaac Hartman, Attorney Michael J. Maloney, and Harry H. Nye on the charge of extorting $2,000 from the Rev. Father Erhard, Attorney Maloney confessed the facts in the case to Attorney Charles A. McDonald, who was called in by H. Dubis, president of the Industrial Savings bank, from which the priest tried to get his hush money, until his actions excited suspicion.

Maloney has been promised light treatment for telling the police the story. Justice Hartman steadfastly denies his complicity in the plot. Inspector Lavin, who turned his attention to the case, hoping to unravel similar blackmailing mysteries, announced last night that his detectives soon would arrest Charles Mitchell, the member of the gang who collected the money from the priest and refused to divide. Mitchell was seen in a downtown saloon at noon.

Another angle of the investigation, which may not stop until it gets to the state's attorney's office, is the activity of the United States secret service. Capt. Porter's interest lies in the fact that Mitchell, in dealing with the Rev. Father Erhard, represented himself as a United States marshal. Capt. Porter may raid the entire gang.

Priest Prepares to Move.

The Rev. Father Erhard is a red faced, chubby man, over 50 years of age. When the reporter found him yesterday the priest, clad in vestments of his office, was in the midst of upturned household belongings. His voice, raised in debate with his housekeeper over the disposal of books and pictures which were being torn from the walls, sounded in the street.

When he was questioned concerning the scandal of which he is the center he muttered:

"Yes, I am forced to go. I am a priest, and I think they might have spared me. I am but a man after all, and that nest of vipers and confederates made me the victim. I have told the archbishop of my fall. My place will be filled on Sunday, although I have not been unfrocked. I have placed my curse upon the man who hired that villain Nye to come here.

"Nye came here in the guise of an insurance agent," he continued. "After a few visits he demanded $500. Then he wanted $1,500. I got it at the bank for him. I did not care for myself, but for my office. Then, when I thought it was all over, Maloney and Hartman tried to get another $1,000. I have a letter from Maloney in my pocket in which he demands the money by noon last Monday. It was too much. They pushed me too far.

"I am ready to suffer. They can send me to prison if they want to."

ANGRY GIRL BLINDS FATHER BY THROWING ACID ON HIM.

Esther Hacken, 77 Waller Street, Attacks Parent, 70 Years Old, When He Interferes in Household Work.

Angered by her father's interference in household affairs, Esther Hacken yesterday afternoon threw carbolic acid in his face. As a result her father, who is nearly 70 years old, will lose the sight of both eyes. After the assault the young woman became hysterical. She is under arrest at the Maxwell street station.

The trouble occurred in Mr. Hacken's home, 77 Waller street, where the daughter has been keeping house for her father and several children younger than herself. Recently, she says, her father has bothered her while she was at work and tried to control the paying of bills. He also tried to prevent her going out in the evening. They had frequent quarrels recently. Yesterday, angered beyond control, she picked up a bottle of carbolic acid and threw the contents in her father's face.

Mr. Hacken was hurried to the county hospital, where the physicians said he undoubtedly would lose his sight. It is said the daughter is slightly demented.

FIND A BODY IN THE SAND.

POLICE THINK THEY HAVE A MURDER MYSTERY ON LAKE SHORE.

Inspector Shippy's Men Make a Grim Discovery at Foot of Indiana Street—Corpse May Have Been Buried There for a Year—Coroner Hoffman to Take a Hand in the Solution of the Case—Will Do Some Dredging Today.

Murder is suspected by Inspector Shippy and Coroner Hoffman in the case of a body taken from the lake yesterday afternoon at the foot of Indiana street. The body is that of a man apparently six feet in height, and was buried in sand under four feet of water, all but the feet, which were discovered by two bathers.

The spot where the body was found is fifty feet from the shore, against the outer side of an old breakwater. It is a popular spot for bathers, and two of these, James Lyons, 160 Orleans street, and Robert Butler, 18 Pearson street, were wading in the water when one of them stumbled over the protruding boots.

The body was in an almost upright position, head down, and apparently had been under water for nearly a year.

A sand dredge will be used today to investigate further, and it is hoped that some indication of the body's identity may be found.

SEPARATED FROM BETROTHED, ITALIAN GIRL KILLS SELF.

Angelina Lasola Shoots Herself When Father Forbids Her Marriage—Jealous Uncle Causes Parental Objection.

Death was more grateful than life to Angelina Lasola, a young Italian woman not long from Naples, who was forbidden by her father to marry the man she loved. Some time during the afternoon yesterday she ended her life with a bullet, and her body was found by her father when he returned from his work in the evening. The paternal objection was due to the interference of a jealous uncle, who wanted to marry the girl.

Years ago in Italy she fell in love with Juan Novello, a young shoemaker, who worked in his father's shop in Naples. The betrothal took place with the full consent of the girl's parents. Novello later emigrated to America, coming to Chicago. He was accompanied by the girl's father, Michael Lasola.

After the three men had been in Chicago a year Novello and Lasola combined their resources and sent for Angelina, promising to send for the mother later. She came in the spring to her father's house at 138 West Ohio street.

It is said the uncle fell violently in love with his niece that he had never seen before, and when the match with Novello was forbidden the girl threatened to kill herself. This quarrel took place Sunday night. The neighbors heard no sound, but when the father came home last evening he found the doors locked.

After repeated knocking he broke the door open and on the floor of the dining room lay the body of the girl with a bullet wound over the right ear.

Barney Freye, 30 years old, died at the German hospital in the afternoon from chloroform poisoning, which he is said to have taken with suicidal intent. He lived at 190 Sheffield avenue and seemed to have been despondent during the recent heated spell. He took the poison Tuesday afternoon at his home.

DETECTIVES RESCUE MAN FROM TWO STREET ROBBERS.

After a Fight They Arrest Pair, Who Are Identified—Woman Wakes and Frightens Away Safe Blowers.

In a fight last evening with two alleged robbers, Detectives Brennan and Mulvihill of the Desplaines street station fired several shots, struggled with the men for ten minutes, and finally overpowered them. The fight occurred in Peoria street, near Monroe, when the cries of Z. Klasky, architect, 114 Blue Island avenue, attracted the attention of the detectives. Hurrying to the rescue, the detectives saw two men beating Klasky and searching his pockets. The men arrested were identified by Klasky. They gave their names as John Savage and Kuke Ward.

Safe Blowers Foiled.—Mrs. S. J. McClain, keeper of a dry goods store at 307 Sedgwick street, was awakened last night just in time to prevent safe blowers from blowing open the safe in her store and stealing $500. They escaped with silks and other goods worth $200.

Fire in Basement of Van Schaack Store Threatens Severe Loss for a Time.

The explosion of a glass globe containing wood alcohol in the basement of Peter Van Schaack & Son's wholesale drug store, 138-40 Lake street, yesterday afternoon, caused a fire which for a time threatened the destruction of the building.

The explosion is believed to have been caused when a lighted lantern was carried into the basement, igniting the vapor from the alcohol. August Waller, an employé, was severely burned about the face and body and taken to his home, 364 Halsted street. Damage to the store was $1,000.

The Harlem village authorities are making an investigation into the number of small fires which have occurred in the last two months. It is suspected some of them have been set by volunteer firemen for the purpose of getting a run.

NATION'S PERIL LIES IN GRAFT.

Supreme Court Justice Brewer Attacks Dishonesty in High Places.

EQUITABLE CASE AS TEXT.

Sees No Difference Between Vote Buying and "Less Coarse" Methods.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 19.—[Special.]—Justice David J. Brewer of the United States Supreme court made an address before a large assemblage of life insurance agents in the Masonic building in this city tonight. He devoted most of his talk to modern graft and praised President Roosevelt in his efforts to make public affairs pure and honest.

This has been a year which may be characterized as one of great insurance upheaval, he said. The press has been full of startling allegations in respect to the manner in which some insurance business has been conducted.

He believed every one charged with a trust should have an eye single to that trust. The moment private pecuniary gain is sought through the advantage of that trust some one is guilty of grafting.

Jugglery of Trust Funds.

"For instance," he said, "trust funds are the funds of this insurance company and this and that bank and this and that trust company. We will take these trust funds, put our assets in their place, and let the insurance company carry them until we can sell them with a profit. The company takes a risk of carrying them until such time as they can sell the assets, the insurance company may be able to pay its interests in full as it had been doing heretofore, but the men who have done this have not fulfilled their trust with an eye single to the company's benefit. They have sought to make these funds inure to their private gain and cast upon the company the risk great or small of that speculation. No such temptations as that are insidious ones which attend the large accumulation of capital.

"Why, do you suppose for a moment that Mr. Ryan paid two and a half millions for property which under no legal circumstances could pay him more than 3 or 4 per cent interest with the idea that all he could get would be this interest? There may be such philanthropists but they are not connected with insurance companies.

Graft in Public Life.

"I am not speaking now about the coarser kind of grafting, such as buying votes, paying money, etc., which we all condemn. I have reference to the more insidious ways that the one holding public office is not carrying on the duties of that office with an eye single to his trust, in prostituting in one way or another that office for his own gain or the gain of his friends.

"Take the president of the United States," continued Justice Brewer. "Last winter Santo Domingo put itself on a financial footing. Suppose the president had acted secretly and advised his friends to buy up Santo Domingo bonds. Wouldn't that shock the people of the country?

"Suppose the United States Supreme court justices would give out information in advance of certain decisions. Wouldn't you revolt at such a transaction? It would be unworthy—this would be grafting.

Full of Strange Contrasts.

"A great many men are living today on the glories which their grandfathers earned for them. We are trembling on the verge of inventions as far surpassing those of today as they did all the others before them. A hundred years ago there were no aggregations of population, no great classes, no slums. Today some are rolling in wealth and others are living in slums. And you who have never been down in these slums have no idea of their awful condition, their vice and crime. To meet these great questions, great, noble men and noble women are rising to their importance and striving to solve them."

Insurance Company Names Trustees.

Justice Brewer was elected a trustee of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company at its annual meeting earlier in the day. He takes the place of Frank G. Bigelow, who resigned shortly before being sent to prison. Other trustees elected were as follows:

Edward B. Butler of Butler Bros., Chicago.
Charles H. Wacker, Chicago.
T. C. Pritzlaff, Milwaukee.
J. W. Skinner, Milwaukee.

Mr. Skinner has been secretary of the company for many years. He was promoted to the second vice presidency and elected a director. Charles H. Watson was elected secretary to succeed Skinner.

UNION LEADER IS ARRESTED.

Crippled Cabman Charges W. J. Gibbons of the Teamsters with Assault and Disorderly Conduct.

Charged with assault and disorderly conduct, W. J. Gibbons, president of the teamsters' joint council, was arrested yesterday afternoon. Charles Kelly, 208 North Clark street, a cabman, is the complainant in both cases.

Kelly said he met Gibbons in a saloon in Randolph street Tuesday night. An argument arose and the teamster is said to have used violent language. Kelly, who is a cripple, told the police he told Gibbons that he would hit him and that he was pushed from the saloon.

Reëntering the saloon, Kelly renewed the argument. Gibbons is said to have gone to the door of the saloon and whistled. Kelly again was ejected from the saloon and as he left he says that he was assaulted by a man he thinks is a teamster.

Gibbons gave bonds and will be arraigned before Justice Mayer this morning.

FIRES THROUGH A SCREEN

JAMES DILLON PROBABLY FATALLY WOUNDS RELATIVE.

Hides in Rear Kitchen at 6209 Wood Street and Uses Revolver on His Brother-in-Law, Policeman Fred W. King, as Latter Started to Enter House—Shots Are Returned Until Patrolman Falls—Result of Quarrel Over Slapping Children.

Because one man slapped the little children of another, his brother-in-law, a family feud started, which culminated in a probably fatal shooting in Englewood last night.

James Dillon, 158 Morgan street, waylaid his brother-in-law, Policeman Fred W. King, in the rear of the latter's residence, 6209 Wood street, shot him three times, ran through the house and escaped, but within two hours of the shooting surrendered at the Stockyards station and had coolly confessed his crime.

King, who is a patrolman traveling out of the Englewood station, is in a critical condition at the Englewood Union hospital.

For several months a feud had existed between Dillon and his sister's husband, and a few days ago King ordered the man out of the house.

Fires Through Window Screen.

King returned to his house at 8 p. m. after he had completed his day's work on strike duty. As he was climbing the steps leading to the rear door, a shot was fired through the screen of a window within a few feet of the door. The bullet pierced the policeman's lower jaw. Dazed, King ran backward, when another shot was fired at him. The bullet struck him in the back below the left shoulder and entered his body. He staggered, but kept his feet and drew his own revolver.

The policeman fired two shots in quick succession from his revolver at the window screen, behind which was his assailant.

A third shot was fired from the window and penetrated King's left arm. Then the policeman fell.

Mrs. King and her children were in the front yard. When she heard the first shot fired she screamed and then ran into the house. There she met her brother, Dillon, who had concealed himself, unobserved, in the kitchen, behind the screen.

As Dillon hurried past, Mrs. King asked in an excited tone:

"My God, Jim; what has happened?"

"I guess I've killed him," was the reply, as the man brushed past, ran through the house, and leaped through a front window.

Boasts of Shooting Brother-in-Law.

"Sure, I shot him," said Dillon in a boasting tone after he surrendered, "and I meant to kill him. I quit my job this morning and bought the revolver with the intention of putting him off the police force and out of business entirely. I knew he would put up a fight—and he certainly did that—and I even shaved for the morgue myself."

King regained consciousness and told Lieut. Smith his brother-in-law had entertained a malicious feeling toward the King children, and when at the house persisted in abusing them—slapping and scolding them continually. This caused the quarrel.

Dillon has a slight scalp wound, caused by one of King's bullets. Another bullet penetrated his hat.

BATAVIA MAN IS KILLED IN FIGHT WITH SALOONKEEPER.

Quarrel Over the Payment for Drinks Leads to Murder—Victim's Brother-in-Law Is Badly Injured.

A fight in a saloon in which one man was killed, another severely injured, and several heads broken, has wrought up the village of Batavia to fever heat. The fight occurred in the saloon of Edward Milroy, which the citizens brand as the most disreputable of the many saloons in the place.

David J. McDonald, an employé of the Chicago and Northwestern railway, was killed in the fight, and John Sutton, his brother-in-law, was severely cut about the head by the club in the hands of Milroy.

The trouble is said to have grown out of McDonald's failure to pay a small saloon bill promptly. When he did pay the bill yesterday morning, he quarreled with Milroy. Jacob Milroy, brother of the owner of the place, ordered McDonald to leave the saloon, and both of the Milroys tried to eject him.

Edward Milroy was armed with a heavy club and was about to strike the man when John Sutten, McDonald's brother-in-law, stepped between them. The wives of Sutten and his brother, James, who were passing the place, hearing the sounds in the place, hurried into the room. Screaming, the women rushed forward and attempted to stop the blows, but the club was again and again wielded, and McDonald lay dead upon the floor.

By this time Marshal William Kelley, who has been criticised for permitting the place to remain open, arrived at the saloon, and placed them all under arrest. The two Milroys, the Sutten brothers, and Frank Sanders, who was in the saloon, were locked up at Geneva.

Edward Milroy, who is accused by Mrs. Sutten of having beaten McDonald to death, was found late in the evening hiding in a barn near his home. He was taken to Geneva. Milroy refused to talk about the killing.

The hot wave was broken yesterday in Chicago and vicinity. There were only thirteen prostrations and the day generally was endurable except to persons engaged in hard labor in factories and in unprotected places out of doors. During most of the day there was a light breeze from the lake. Today will be much like yesterday, according to the weather bureau, with the further promise of showers.

Although the day was cooler than either Monday or Tuesday, the death list both of adults and of babies was longer. Although there were only thirteen prostrations, there were fifteen deaths of adults recorded and nineteen infant mortalities. Most of the adults who died were prostrated late Tuesday night before the extreme heat was modified. The street level maximum was 87 at 3 p. m.

Weakened by Prolonged Heat.

In accounting for the greater mortality of yesterday Prof. Garriott at the weather bureau pointed out that the two days of extreme heat had been of weakening effect on all constitutions. People were worn out and the third day, although cooler, was fatal to those whose vitality had been reduced to the lowest ebb.

"If it had been as hot today as it was yesterday, the list of deaths would have been many times longer," said the forecaster last night.

The temperature scarcely got within hailing distance of the nineties all day. At 5 p. m. it reached 86, the maximum for the day, and it jumped to that point from 80, where it stood an hour earlier. This sudden rise came about by reason of a capricious veering of the wind from the lake region to the hot prairie.

Shortly after 5 p. m., however, the mercury gradually dropped back toward the 80 mark, where it had been all of the forenoon and the early part of the afternoon.

Heat Kills the Chicago Babies.

The deadly effect of the heat on Chicago's population, especially the babies, is shown by statistics for the three hottest days of the summer—Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday. The data was secured by physicians in the health department, who hope to fight the summer foe to the babies, acute intestinal diseases, by studying its causes.

Of the eighty-four deaths caused during the three scorching days from acute intestinal diseases, or "summer complaint," seventy-three were babies of 1 year or under. That this is the most dreaded of the hot weather ailments is shown by the fact that an increase of 135 per cent of deaths of this disease followed the three hot days.

"Although these figures are almost unbelievable, it will grow bigger in the next few days, when we get the full reports from the burial permit office," said Dr. C. S. Drake. "The effects of the hot days will be felt for a week, even if the temperature returns to normal once more."

Deaths Due to Lack of Proper Care.

This mortality rate among infants is attributed to lack of proper nourishment and care during the hot weather. While adults instinctively eat what is best suited to the conditions and protect themselves against the intense heat, many infants are neglected, either through thoughtlessness or indifference.

A comparison of the list of dead for Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday shows 295 deaths, against 247 for the corresponding days of the previous week, when normal temperature prevailed, or an increase of 19.5 per cent. The increase among infants under 1 year old is still more appalling. One hundred and eleven deaths were reported during the hot days, as compared to 57 for three previous days, an increase of 94.8 per cent.

Eighty-four deaths were caused by acute intestinal diseases, against thirty-six deaths for the same days for the previous week. This is attributed largely to the mothers' lack of knowledge of the symptoms and to the want of ice.

Scores of persons applied at the bureau of health in the city hall for the circulars which direct the remedies for babies suffering from summer ailments. These are printed in English, Bohemian, German, Hebrew, Italian, and Polish, and may be obtained at room 2 city hall.

Horses Are Victims of Heat.

With more than sixty horses dead as a result of the torrid atmosphere the Humane society was kept busy during the day taking care of animals that were overcome and in instructing owners.

"The first thing which should be done when a horse is overcome is to throw water on it, or, where a hose is available, drench it with water," was the advice of the society's veterinary surgeon. "Then immediately send for a surgeon that he may administer stimulants. If this is done the lives of many horses will be saved."

Business men also were advised to use the straw hats and wet sponges, which appear to have been discarded because of the ridiculous appearance on the horses when so equipped.

HEAT TAKES GIRL'S MEMORY.

Child Is Found Wandering in Streets Unable to Remember Where She Lives.

A little girl was found at Clark and Harrison streets apparently in a dazed condition yesterday afternoon. When first taken to the Harrison street police station she could not recollect her name or where she lived, but later said she was Elvia Campana and 14 years old. The girl declared her mother had sent her on an errand and that she got lost. She could not remember where she lived. She wore a pink and white dress and a straw hat. She was placed in the annex. It is believed the girl is suffering from the heat.

MANY PROSTRATIONS BEFORE NEW YORK GETS RELIEF.

Thunder Storms Follow What Promised to Be Another Day of Terrifying Torridity—Highest Official Temperature Recorded Is 95, but on Street Level It Exceeds 100—Thousands of Persons Spend Night in Central Park.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Seventy-five deaths in New York and Brooklyn, fifteen deaths in Newark, N. J., five in Jersey City, and others in nearby points, tell the story of the heat's awful ravages in this vicinity today.

While the record of deaths and prostrations greatly exceeded that of yesterday, there was a distinct diminution today in the temperature.

Although the midday heat was everywhere terrific, it was broken by scattered thunder storms, many of a violent character, and towards evening the temperature fell rapidly, until normal summer conditions were reached.

With this welcome relief came the announcement from the weather bureau tonight that the abatement of the heated term had been general and that moderate temperature probably would prevail for several days in the middle Atlantic and the New England states.

Central park again turned itself into the greatest free municipal lodging house in the world tonight. It is estimated that between 10,000 and 15,000 persons were in the green, starlit caravansary at midnight. They were of all sorts of conditions—men, women, and children.

Hundreds of women with children in baby carriages came and spent three or four hours under the trees and went back home again. Thousands remained all night.

Temperature Exceeds 100.

In New York the highest official temperature recorded was 95, but on the street level it exceeded 100. This is one degree lower than that of yesterday, when the highest record of the season was reached.

After a night of sweltering heat spent by thousands in the streets, in the public parks, on piers along the river front, and in every vacant place that promised a breath of air the conditions that confronted the people of New York this morning were terrifying. The sun rose in a cloudless sky, and hour after hour the heat grew more and more intense. Every ambulance was kept busy, and by noon the hospitals were crowded with sufferers.

Even the seashore resorts in the vicinity of New York did not escape the heat, and many prostrations occurred among the thousands that flocked to Coney Island and the other beaches on the Long Island shore.

Insane from the Heat.

Among the distressing incidents of the day was the killing of her infant in Brooklyn by a young woman who was suddenly driven insane by the heat. She stabbed the child to death and then made a vain attempt on her own life.

Leonard Sanders, a colored man from New Haven, went mad in the public park in East One Hundred and Thirtieth street, and leaped into the river from the Harlem bridge. He was rescued by three boatmen after a struggle, in which he upset the boat and nearly drowned his rescuers.

Several of the deaths reported were those of persons who had fallen while asleep from fire escapes, where they were endeavoring to escape the stifling atmosphere of crowded tenements.

With 150 bodies in the cold storage room at the city morgue, the refrigerating system was found to be out of order today, and it was necessary to resort to the use of tons of ice, in which the bodies were packed, and fifty bodies were hurriedly shipped to the potter's field.

One Theater Closes Doors.

Among the results of the heat was the sudden closing of the Herald Square theater, where "The Rollicking Girl" was being performed.

For the first time the New York City railroad company issued a general order permitting all motormen and conductors to remove their coats while on duty during the heated term. Almost all the men availed themselves of the privilege.

In order to save all who might fall into the hands of the police after court hours the torment of a night in the station house cells, the police magistrates made arrangement to accept bail for prisoners at any hour during the night during the continuance of the heat.

The suffering among animals during the day was intense, hundreds of horses, many of which died, being prostrated. An extraordinary mortality among dogs and cats, of which hundreds of bodies were picked up in the streets, was reported by the police.

Throughout New York state severe thunder storms with rain and high winds served to moderate the heat. In Albany a heavy storm in the afternoon caused a fall in temperature from 92° to 70° within five minutes.

Deaths in Connecticut.

New Haven, Conn., July 19.—Six deaths due to the heat were reported from different places in Connecticut today. Work in foundries and factories in all parts of the state was suspended in whole or in part during most of the day. Building operations also were suspended and railroad track crews and stevedore gangs at sound points were laid off. In Bridgeport alone 10,000 factory workers were idle this afternoon. In New Haven the temperature rose to 94. The humidity was 57, as against 50 yesterday. In Hartford the government thermometer showed a temperature of 90 at noon, with humidity 62.

New England's Hot Wave Broken.

Boston, Mass., July 19.—It was the belief of the Boston weather bureau officials tonight that the sojourn in New England of the most intense heat wave so far this season was about ended and that more comfortable conditions would prevail tomorrow. Seven deaths and more than two score of prostrations were reported from New England points.

This afternoon brought showers practically throughout the entire section, and tonight the average maximum temperature in seven government stations was 74.

To Sleep in Cleveland's Parks.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—Beginning tonight the board of public safety has ordered Edgewater and Gordon parks thrown open to as many people as desire to sleep there. This order will continue during the continuance of the heated spell. It was brought about through the alarming condition existing in many of the congested portions of the city. Extra park policemen, together with a large number of the regular force, will be detailed to guard the sleepers.

Cooler at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., July 19.—A cool breeze prevailed all day, and there was not nearly so much suffering as on Monday and Tuesday. As near as can be learned from reports so far made to the health office, fifty children, ranging in age from 6 months to 5 years, have died during the present hot spell from troubles brought on by the heat.

Cooler at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., July 19.—Occasional clouds and a breeze reduced the sizzling temperature slightly today, and the stirring atmosphere rendered the suffering less intense. Few prostrations were reported. The maximum temperature was 88 degrees and humidity 60.

Relief at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 19.—The torrid spell was broken today by a thunder storm, which caused the mercury to fall 19 degrees in a few minutes. At 2 o'clock the thermometer registered 68 degrees. The storm was severe, and for a time caused an interruption of telegraphic communication west and north of this city. As far as known there was no serious damage.

DISTRIBUTING ICE TICKETS IN A WEST SIDE TENEMENT HOUSE

HEADS OF MINING COMPANY ARE ARRESTED FOR FRAUD.

Dr. Walter B. Metcalf and W. C. Barrett Are Held for Obtaining Money by Means of Confidence Game.

Dr. Walter B. Metcalf, president of the Beaver Falls Mining company, which has offices at 1401 Marquette building, and W. C. Barrett, secretary and treasurer of the company, were arrested yesterday on warrants charging that they obtained money by means of a confidence game. A third man, J. J. Meldahl, director in the Beaver Falls Mining company, is also sought for on similar charges.

Dr. Metcalf, who is a practicing physician and is well known in medical circles, and Barrett were released upon bonds.

The attention of the police was called to the case in a letter written by Robert Aird, 489 West Van Buren street, who invested $300 in stocks of the Chicago Adirondack Gold Mining company, which formerly occupied the present offices of the Beaver Falls Mining company.

Mr. Aird replied to an advertisement of a clairvoyant at Michigan avenue and Sixteenth street, who claimed to be able to tell the name, age, address, and business of any caller without having seen him before. Mr. Aird was informed that his hand showed signs of great wealth in speculation. The clairvoyant then referred him to the Chicago Adirondack Gold Mining company, which then had offices at 1420 Marquette building. Aird invested $300 in the stocks. He told the police he paid his money to J. J. Meldahl. Aird said he had no returns on his investment, and the money paid by him was not used as represented. He complained to the police and the arrests resulted.

TWO INJURED IN STRIKE RIOT.

Policeman and Nonunion Driver Are Attacked by Pickets in Illinois Central Yards.

Strike rioting was renewed yesterday and a policeman and a nonunion driver were injured as the result of an attack in the afternoon upon a wagon belonging to Steele-Wedeles & Co. at the Illinois Central railroad freight yards at the foot of South Water street.

The Injured.

Bell, H. T., 1925 Wabash av., teamster; face cut; severely injured.

Cronin, John, 1546 West Van Buren street; head cut; taken home by the police.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Bell was attacked by strike pickets near the freighthouse. Policeman Cronin in attempting to protect the driver was thrown to the ground. He drew his revolver and after firing three shots prevented the men from continuing the attack. No one was struck by the bullets.

One man arrested gave the name of Patrick McNamara at the Central station.

Mrs. Gertrude Howe-Britton, one of the residents of Hull house, started out yesterday on an exploring and baby saving expedition, with a bunch of THE TRIBUNE free ice fund tickets. Her route took her through the poorest quarters of the social settlement. She explained as best she could, for her Italian is not fluent or extensive in its vocabulary, the merits of ice, on a hot day, where there are sick babies.

It did not matter that Mrs. Britton's Italian was not of the sort that would pass muster in the strictly Neapolitan neighborhood where her missionary work took her. There always was some little Italian to translate and ice and babies and tickets formed a common subject.

Leaves a Few Free Coupons.

Wherever the "resident worker" went she left behind the pink and green orders, by which the poor are enable to get ice during the midsummer at the cost rate of 1 cent for ten pounds. A few coupons she distributed, explaining that they were free, where the applicant is unable to pay anything.

"It is better not to make paupers of the people," she said. "For the destitute there always is ice without cost, but it is not the intention to give it away to those who can afford the nominal price. There is no hesitation in distributing it to all who need it and who cannot buy it, but these people are not beggars. Some of them already are so imbued with American institutions and customs that they resent being made objects of charity."

Mrs. Britton was speaking of a colony of Neapolitans who came from a city where there probably are more beggars in proportion to the population than any other city in Europe.

"I am going to a tenement I consider the worst in this district," Mrs. Britton said. "It formerly was the property of a reform alderman."

Young Mother Is an Applicant.

Mrs. Britton stopped at 192 Polk street, where a girl—she couldn't have been more than 16 years old—appeared with a baby in her arms.

"These are the tickets for the ice," Mrs. Britton explained. "For 8 cents you have enough ice for a week. They are honored by any of the Knickerbocker company's wagons."

A dark haired woman with the ornaments of a Tucsan peasant in her ears talked excitedly in her native tongue from a window.

"If you cannot pay for the ticket the first one will be free," replied Mrs. Britton to this torrent of language. "I am sorry that the baby is sick. Its milk must be kept fresh. Where is your husband?"

"He is at a hospital. He had typhoid fever yesterday," the younger woman answered dully, covering up the face of her baby with a shawl.

"You should have let us know at the dispensary. How much did they charge?"

"Thirty dollars. They were afraid they would not get the money."

"That is too much. You should have let us know at Hull House."

Mrs. Britton left a green order for the ice and told the woman to bring it to Hull house.

Crowded in Big Tenement.

The tenement that Mrs Britton had spoken of is in Polk street. It is of brick and several stories high. Fifty families, consisting of nearly 300 persons live in it, occupying 124 rooms. It covers only fifty feet of ground and all of the tenements are crowded. There is little light or ventilation on the west side, the only windows opening on a court 8 feet and 11 inches wide. This is too narrow to comply with the present building ordinance.

The court, which is the only playground for more than 200 children, recently was whitewashed, after a visit by the health department. But the tenement is insanitary, with insufficient closets, and several of the inmates, who are employed on sweatshop work, have tuberculosis. Garbage cans, with their disease multiplying contents, are kept in the narrow court. Washing continually hangs from the fire escapes.

The women, picturesque with poverty, were in the court, with their infants in their arms. They could not understand what the settlement worker said about ice and babies.

Bring Their Babies to Show.

"We have a baby," said a 10 year old boy, and he ran to bring it. His example was followed by others. They seemed to think that babies were the thing. There was no lack of children. It is not in the quarters of the poor that traces of race suicide are to be found.

"A cent a day is all it costs," Mrs. Britton kept repeating. "You bring these tickets to Hull house and we will give you the ice."

There was a rush for the tickets.

The resident went into the apartment at the rear of the court. It was a room possibly 8x12 feet. Half a dozen women, some of them comely, but with bent shoulders, were working on men's garments. Half clad children sprawled on the floor. An old man with wrinkled face who had knotted a red woolen sash about his waist was caring for a small baby that was ill.

"You should take off its hood," said Mrs. Britton, pointing to a badly soiled quilted affair of black silk, that would have been suitable on a winter's day.

Are Shown How to Keep Ice.

"We do not want any ice," said a man who could speak a little English. "It melts; we have no place to put it."

The social settlement worker showed how the ice could be kept by being wrapped in paper or woolen cloth, and told them where empty soap boxes could be procured. One family used two tubs, one over the other, as a refrigerator.

"These rooms are comparatively clean," commented one who had accompanied Mrs. Britton.

"Yes, that is the pathetic part of it. They are clean and they should have a better place to live in. The landlord could afford to make improvements. I have figured it out, and he gets $34,200 a year from these families."

Most of the flats are of two and three rooms each.

Bring Gen. Blackmar's Body.

The body of Gen. W. W. Blackmar, late commander in chief of the G. A. R., will arrive in Chicago at 7:30 this morning in charge of the funeral party. It will be met by a delegation of Grand Army men led by Gen. John C. Smith, commander of the department of Illinois, and Col. Partridge, and escorted to Memorial hall, in the public library building, where it will lie in state. Commander E. B. Billings and the Rev. Edward A. Morton, chaplain of the grand army post in Boston to which Gen. Blackmar belonged, will take the body to Boston for interment.

MORTON REMOVES EQUITABLE CHIEF

Controller Jordan Ousted for Refusing Light on Loan of $685,000.

OTHERS REPORTED ON RUN

Westinghouse Proposes New Plan as Solution of Society's Troubles.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Thomas D. Jordan, controller of the Equitable Life Assurance society, was summarily removed from office today by Chairman Paul Morton because he refused to furnish information regarding that $685,000 blind loan standing against the Equitable society on the books of the Mercantile Trust company.

The loan stood in the names of Jordan and James W. Alexander as trustees until a few days ago, when the state authorities ordered that it be taken up by the society.

Jordan is to be succeeded, temporarily at least, by William A. Day, who was the auditor of the United States treasury for four years when Grover Cleveland was president, and who at present is assistant attorney general of the United States.

Mr. Day probably will enter upon his new duties at once, although his resignation, when accepted by the president, may not take effect until Sept. 1.

Mr. Day, it is suggested, may have been the choice of Former President Cleveland, of whom Mr. Day has been a personal friend for many years, and he is personally well known to Chairman Morton. Mr. Day was formerly a special attorney for the interstate commerce commission, and since his appointment in the department of justice has been closely identified with the litigation of the federal government against the railroads and against the western beef packing interests.

Ends Ten Years' Service.

Mr. Jordan has been in the service of the Equitable for many years. He was controller almost ten years. He was receiving a salary of $35,000 a year. He was one of the few directors of the old board who qualified through the actual ownership of five shares of the society's capital stock. He was a member of the executive committee of the board of directors, but undoubtedly will lose his place on that committee, if he remains in the directorate, which is thought unlikely.

Will Sue Directors.

Attorney General Mayer is going to bring suit against every member of the Equitable's old board of directors to compel an accounting of their management of the society's funds. That was learned from a man close to the attorney general. Every one of the forty-nine directors, including those who resigned, will be made defendants in the action by the state, and probably will take the stand to testify.

The activity of the attorney general, Chairman Morton, and others in regard to the Equitable's blind loan from the Mercantile Trust company is reflected in statements by several persons that within a few days several parties who got money from the Equitable which is supposed to have been charged to this loan account, the Mercantile Trust company making the payments, will have made restitution. According to a person who made these statements the men who got a slice of the policy holders' money are thoroughly scared over the developments of the last few days, and are just about ready to start on the run.

Westinghouse Offers Solution.

George Westinghouse, one of the three trustees of the Equitable majority stock bought from James Hazen Hyde by Thomas F. Ryan, came out with a suggested reorganization of the society, which, he declares, in his opinion will afford the real solution of the society's difficulties. His proposition contemplates the stock control of the society by 5,000 policy holders, each policy holder to be limited to the purchase of one share of stock. Mr. Westinghouse expresses the opinion that the present trustee arrangement for control of the society will only temporarily satisfy the policy holders. His suggestions were embodied in a letter which he sent June 21 to Paul D. Cravath, counsel for Thomas F. Ryan.

Mr. Westinghouse made it plain when he gave out the letter that he had written it as a policy holder of the society and not with any authority as a trustee.

An informal statement was given out at the same time as the letter in which Mr. Westinghouse stated he had suggested his plan after Mr. Ryan had made it known that he also regarded the present stock control as only temporary in character. Mr. Westinghouse gave it as his firm belief 5,000 public spirited policy holders would be willing to subscribe for 5,000 new shares at the price of $1,000 a share.

Depew to Return for Vindication.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

PARIS, July 19.—Senator Depew, who will sail on Saturday for America, said today that he had changed his plans in order to return to New York to meet the various charges made in connection with the Equitable.

"I have put off curing my rheumatism for another year in order that I may vindicate myself to the American public."

ALWAYS FRESH FOOD

Crisp and Easily Digested, Malta-Vita Goes Straight From Its Huge Ovens to the Many Who Eat It.

The Malta-Vita Pure Food Co., of Battle Creek, Mich., has adopted a successful method of keeping the public always supplied with fresh Malta-Vita, the perfect food.

When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested because the gelatinized starch of the thoroughly cooked wheat has been converted, by fine malt extract, into maltose (malt sugar).

THE HIGH DEGREE OF QUALITY.

No other food preparation contains such a high degree of food quality and such a low degree of moisture. The Malta-Vita Company limits orders from every wholesale dealer to a quantity which the company knows can be disposed of quickly in the wholesaler's territory. The wholesaler, in turn, makes only such shipments to grocers as he knows they will be able to handle satisfactorily.

Thus the grocer's supply of Malta-Vita is always as fresh and crisp as when it comes from the ovens in the big factory at Battle Creek—always the kind that melts in the mouth.

Malta-Vita is so deliciously refreshing and satisfying that it should be in every home. It is the only perfect food. Best for children and best for grown folks.

At all grocers now 10 cents. Same high quality, same big package as when sold for 15 cents.

Made from the highest cost and most delicately flavored ingredients procurable.

"COMBINE" TEAM BEATS THE SOX.

New York, with Philadelphia Helper, Wins from the Locals, 2 to 1.

WHITE'S WORK IS FUTILE.

Teammates Fail to Help Him Out —Mack's Generosity Toward Himself.

The White Stockings lost their fourth straight game to second division teams yesterday when the crippled Highlanders, bolstered up for the occasion by Connie Mack, won out by a score of 2 to 1 in spite of some sterling work by Doc White. Incidentally the Sox dropped back to third place, being passed by Philadelphia, which club has strengthened New York for this series by contributing the services of Catcher Powers to Griffith's cause.

To the average layman it may look like fine generosity on the part of Connie Mack to lend New York a crack catcher when the Highlanders are in a bad way through injuries. But it isn't baseball, neither is it generosity on Mack's part. The shrewd Connie is anxious to have the other eastern teams do as well as possible against Cleveland and Chicago, which are his only rivals for the pennant just now. By strengthening Griffith's hands on this trip Connie is doing New York one good turn and Philadelphia several.

Why Mack Is "Generous."

There could be no objection to the loan of a player for a single game when some club was hard pressed by sudden injuries, consequently there was little thought of it when Powers played with New York the first time. But Griffith has had several days in which to repair his broken ranks, yet it is announced Powers is to stay with New York until he is no longer needed or until Mack needs him. There may be no American league law against such a deal, but there is a provision in the national agreement against "farming," and Powers certainly is a farmed player while playing with New York and under contract to Philadelphia.

Enemies of the American league repeatedly have flaunted the charge of "syndicate baseball" in the face of its public, and the league cannot afford to give those enemies such material as this. Griffith has plenty of players and there are plenty more to be had, even if they are not first raters. At least the public should not be outraged by the spectacle of a club which is in the pennant race bolstering up a club which is out of the race against teams which are contenders with the helping club.

Are Beaten Fairly.

It does not invalidate the argument or lessen the chances for a scandal that Powers did little which, on the surface, helped to beat Chicago yesterday. The White Stockings were beaten squarely and fairly, because luck broke against them at the finish after favoring them in the earlier rounds. It was the best game the Sox have played for a week in every department, and White was the all round star. In fact, with even a little help from his backers he would have won the game himself. Besides pitching a grand game, White got to second base without assistance every time he went to bat, and gave his team mates three different chances to score him.

The first time up in the third "Doc" doubled past third with none out. Green sacrificed him to third, but in the pinch Holmes could do nothing but hit straight at Elberfeld, and White was cut down at the plate. In the fifth and seventh innings White worked Chesbro for passes and stole second both times, but the succeeding batters failed to score him.

Tannehill's Mistake.

Tannehill figured largely in the first run New York scored. Conroy opened the fifth with a single. Keeler bunted toward third, and just as Tannehill got to it the ball started to go foul. Lee thought too late, for he caught the ball a few inches on fair ground, then finished well by falling and pulling his hands across the line, but Sheridan was not deceived. By letting the ball go through his legs Tannehill could have gained a strike on Keeler. As it was it put runners at second and third with one out, when Elberfeld followed with a sacrifice. Williams rapped a hard one at Tannehill, who set himself to throw Conroy out at the plate and had plenty of time, but fumbled an instant and had to retire the batter, letting the run score.

A pass, an out, and Elberfeld's fly into Holmes' garden, which Jones just missed catching, scored New York's winning run in the seventh. The White Sox were lucky with their one run. Donohue led off in the fourth with a single and was sacrificed to second. Jones flied, but Sullivan nearly broke Chesbro's hand with a hit. Donohue was held at third and pulled off a double steal with Sullivan, although "Jiggs" would have been out at the plate if McGuire had held the ball.

Horseshoe Play.

This bit of luck was more than offset in the eighth by a lucky play which stopped the Sox when nothing else could have prevented tying up the game. Holmes led off with a single. Expecting Davis to bunt, Chesbro gave him two bad balls. Knowing the pitcher would put the third one over the plate, Davis switched to a hit and run signal. He called the turn and swatted a liner toward right center which would have been good for two or three sacks and a run, but Williams was running to cover second, because Holmes had started, and, stretching to the limit, speared the ball, getting a cinch double play which alone prevented a sure tying run. DOUBLE HEADER TO CLEVELAND

Lajoie's Men Beat the Champions Decisively in Both Games in Ohio City.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—Cleveland won both games of a double header from Boston today, outbatting Boston in both. Joss and Rhoades were puzzles, while Winters was knocked out of the box in the first. Flick was unable to play in the second on account of illness. Carr's all around work was a feature. Vinson's phenomenal one hand catch saved the second game for Cleveland. In this game Cleveland had no one left on bases. Two games on Thursday. Scores:

To Consider Griffith's Case.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—The national baseball commission will meet here tomorrow to consider charges against Howard C. Griffith of the minor league organization. He is charged with attempting to form an organization among five of the strongest minor leagues to wage war on the American league. It is expected P. T. Powers, Judge W. M. Kavanaugh of Little Rock, Norris L. O'Neill, Tim Murnane, and a number of owners and managers of minor league clubs will be present.

Secures Two Local Players.

Jerry Utley, manager of the Hancock (Mich.) team in the Copper Country league, yesterday secured Bert Kinneally, who has been playing third base for the Streator Reds, and Willie Giblin, who played short for the Gunthers.

Notes of the White Sox Game.

New York again today, tomorrow, and Saturday.

Manager Jones switched his batting order again, changing places himself with Holmes, and it seemed to improve things a bit. At least the club played better baseball.

With two gone in the ninth Sullivan roused fleeting hopes with a single and quickly stole second base, but Tannehill struck out trying for the hit that would have tied up the score.

No one ever heard President Comiskey "holler for help" when his team was crippled. He goes into the prairies and picks up the players instead of begging them from other clubs in the same league.

Chesbro pitched in his old time form, but at that the Sox might have pulled off his scalp but for the horseshoe in Jimmy Williams' mit, which enabled him to turn an exceedingly clever play by the Sox into their defeat.

Sullivan was White's only effective helper. He made two-fifths of Chicago's hits and stole two bases, figuring largely in Chicago's only run. Since the club was deprived of McFarland's services Sullivan has been playing a stronger game.

In New York's half of the ninth Chesbro hit a fly several blocks toward the loop, but Jones tore back with unerring instinct and, turning just at the right instant, caught the ball, which ought to have been good for three corners. Conroy followed with a single, which was wasted.

Griffith made a fuss in the third inning when Yeager stuck his elbow into a curve intentionally and Sheridan would not let the batter go to first. The bags were full at the time, and it would have forced in a run, but that made no difference to the indicator man. Yeager struck out on the next ball.

C. A. A. Trials Today.

Trials to select the cherry circle team which will make the trip to Portland for the national A. A. U. games on Aug. 4 and 5 will begin this afternoon on Marshall Field with a five mile race between Albert Corey, the Frenchman Marathon runner, and "Hoosier" Verner of Purdue. The pair will circle the cinder path twenty times. Tomorrow the five quarter milers will be given a tryout—Capt. Lightbody, Quigley, Groman, Arthur Rose, and George Smith. Quigley has been training at his home in Rushville, Ill. Rose, Parry, Tobin, and Thomas will compete on Saturday at weight throwing. The remainder of the trials will be held on Monday, and the team will, in all probability, leave for Portland on Tuesday. Hogenson is not expected to try for the team.

BUDDY RYAN WINS OVER PETERSON.

Latter's Seconds Toss Sponge in the Twentieth Round at Colma.

NO MATCH FOR CHICAGOAN

California Pugilist Is Floored Five Times in Nineteenth Session.

San Francisco, Cal., July 19.—Buddy Ryan of Chicago was awarded the welterweight championship in the twentieth round of a twenty-five round fight with George Peterson of San Francisco tonight. Peterson's seconds threw up the sponge after the local man had been repeatedly knocked down in the last two rounds.

In the nineteenth round Peterson was floored five times, but he managed to regain his feet before the count was concluded. Ryan went at his opponent like a tiger in the deciding round and felled him with a left swing to the jaw. Peterson was rising at the count of nine when his seconds threw up the sponge.

Ryan forced the fighting, and, although Peterson responded gamely, he was no match for the eastern man.

THRASHES BATH ATTENDANTS.

"Kid" McCoy Has a Lively Time at Brighton Beach with Belligerent Gate Keepers.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Feeling the effects of the heat this morning, "Kid" McCoy, the pugilist, made up his mind to take a dip in the sea before paying a visit to the Brighton Beach racetrack. He bought a ticket to the Brighton Beach bathing pavilion and hired a fine flannel suit, for which he paid an extra sum. When the bathing suit was handed to him the bath attendant gave him a ticket. This ticket was to be surrendered to the gate keeper at the end of the bath, as a voucher that the bathing suit had been returned.

After McCoy had enjoyed a good swim he returned to the bathhouse, dressed, and started to leave the building. He had the ticket in his hand as he was passing one of the attendants, but forgot to give it up. The gate keeper, a burly man, accosted "Kid" in this style:

"Say, you dude, where's your ticket?"

"O, here it is," was the "Kid's" reply. "I forgot it."

"Yes, you did," was the rejoinder. "What are you doing, trying to pinch that suit? I've a good mind to take a crack at you, you dude."

"Well, it's up to you," said McCoy in a quiet manner. "I wouldn't do it, because I didn't mean any harm."

This apologetic tone was considered by the gateman as a sign of weakness, and he shot his right fist out. It struck the air.

The "Kid" had sidestepped, and, much to the astonishment of the bathkeeper he got a blow in the face that knocked him heels over head. His cries for assistance brought four or five other bath attendants. As they rushed at McCoy he knocked them down like so many nine pins. When they were all in a heap some one recognized the "Kid," and the belligerent bath attendants made humble apologies, and the impromptu "scrap" ended.

Spectators were so well pleased that they offered to give the "Kid" a complimentary supper, but he declined.

CALL OFF GAME IN BROOKLYN.

Crowd Incensed at Action but Chicago Players Are Glad to Escape the Heat.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—Wet grounds were announced by the management of the Brooklyn club this afternoon as the reason for the postponement of the Chicago-Brooklyn game.

Fans who had paid their admission to the grounds did not think the reason was sufficient, as the rain had passed and the grounds were not in bad shape. A riot would have been precipitated if the angry rooters had not been handed back their money. A crowd of 200 made their way up to the office of President Ebbets, demanded the return of their money, and for the first time in the history of the administration the money was returned.

"It looked as if it was going to rain again soon and we thought it much easier not to start the game," explained Mr. Ebbets.

Three of the Brooklyn players are already in bad shape from the heat and Manager Hanlon was glad of the chance to give his men a rest.

The Chicago team left tonight for Boston, where they will play two games with Tenny's men tomorrow. The terrible heat was checked by the rain, but the ball players were all glad to get out of playing today.

REACH THE SEMI-FINALS.

PROGRESS OF PLAY IN WESTERN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

R. G. and W. Hunt and Waldner and Emerson the Survivors in Men's Singles—Misses Garische, McAteer, and Neely Qualify in the Women's Event, with One Preliminary Remaining—Contests in Doubles Furnish Interesting Sport.

Yesterday's play in the western tennis championship tournament at the Kenwood club brought the singles to the semi-finals with the two Hunts, Waldner, and Nat Emerson left in the running, while three teams have qualified in the doubles event.

In the women's singles, Miss Garische and Miss Neely qualified, leaving only one preliminary, Miss McAteer being the other qualifier. The lower half of the women's doubles was played to the finals, the Misses Neely and Steever being winners.

Will Hunt beat Bingham in straight sets, the first being easy, while in the second twelve games were needed to decide the match. Nat Emerson of Cincinnati easily disposed of Burton, the remaining Minneapolis player, 6—4, 6—1, and Reuben Hunt put Russ of the Texas team out of the running after a hard fought match. The Californian won the first set, 6—4, but the Lone Star man turned the tables in the second, 6—1. The third set lasted eighteen games, Hunt winning, 10—8.

Waldner triumphed over Nelson Peebles of Cincinnati twelve straight games.

In the doubles Stern and Sunderland, the Hyde Park High school players, gave Baldwin and Beyer of Kenwood a determined fight before surrendering. Five sets were needed, two of which went to deuce scores. Emerson and Will Hunt also put up a hard scrap in their match with Collins and Waldner. Summaries:

Men's singles, second round—Burton defeated Corneau, 6—2, 6—1.

Third round—Will Hunt defeated Bingham, 6—2, 7—5; Emerson defeated Burton, 6—4, 6—1; R. G. Hunt defeated Russ, 6—4, 1—6, 10—8; Waldner defeated Peebles, 6—0, 6—0.

Second round—Miss Neeley and Steever defeated Misses Lee and Clark, 6—1, 6—3.

Wright and Larned Win Again.

LONDON, July 19.—The only interest in the third day's play in the Davis cup competition was as to the possibility of the Americans gaining the maximum points against the Australasians, which they did, both William A. Larned and Beals C. Wright winning their matches. Larned beat Norman E. Brookes, the Australasian champion, three sets to love, and Wright accounted for A. F. Wilding by two sets to love. The American team has improved wonderfully since arriving here and has established beyond doubt its right to challenge for the cup. After the match the American team will return direct to the United States to take part in the championships there. They are trying to persuade the Doherty brothers to accompany them.

HANDY WINS HALF MILE RACE.

Chicago Boy Defeats Gaily and Leary, San Francisco Experts, in Swimming Event at Portland.

Portland, Ore., July 19.—[Special.]—H. J. Handy of the Chicago Central Y. M. C. A. won the half mile swimming race at the exposition grounds today. The contest took place in Guilds lake, in the center of the fair grounds. F. Gaily of the Olympic club of San Francisco was second and Scott Leary, also of San Francisco, third.

Leary played out long before the end of the race, but Gaily and the Chicago boy kept up a tremendous contest to the finish. Handy was only a few feet ahead of his opponent as he crossed the line. The time was 13:14.

The mile race is scheduled for tomorrow. Handy did not expect to win today's race, saying that his long trip from Chicago had left him in poor condition. His performances here have been remarkable.

"AD" PLAYERS REDUCED TO 4.

Annis, Conklin, Freeman, and Bole Left in the Advertisers' National Tournament.

Cleveland, O., July 19.—[Special.]—Four men qualified in the two flights today at the American Golf Association of Advertising Interests. They will meet in the finals for the championship tomorrow. They are Newton Annis, W. E. Conklin, and E. A. Freeman of New York and J. K. Bole of Cleveland. The prophets predict tonight that the championship will be between Bole and Freeman, with Bole the favorite, as his familiarity with the Euclid course will be in his favor.

The first flights started today and the favorites won in every case. Freeman's showing was remarkable. He beat bogey by three in his match with his father, W. C. Freeman, making the course in 76. His playing in the afternoon was not so good, but he easily defeated his opponent, Oliver.

Bole equaled Freeman's score in the afternoon by making the course in 76. He is picked to defeat Annis and Freeman to defeat Conklin. Then the match will settle down to a flight between the east and west.

Following is the score of the first two flights in the golf tournament today:

FIRST FLIGHT.
Alexander beat Roberts, 4 up, 2 to play.
Annis beat Cox by default.
J. K. Bole beat Keep, 2 up.
Brown beat Brampton, 5 up, 4 to play.
Newton Jr. beat A. E. Adams, 1 up, 19 holes.
Conklin beat Swartwout, 6 up, 5 to play.
E. A. Freeman beat W. C. Freeman, 5 up, 4 to play.
O. K. Oliver beat J. G. Batterson, 6 up, 5 to play.

SECOND FLIGHT [MORNING].
Boyd beat Stack, 2 up, 1 to play.
Batterson beat F. W. King, 4 up, 3 to play.
Parshall beat Cutts, 3 up, 1 to play.
Bates beat F. E. Sands, 2 up, 1 to play.
Moffatt beat Fordyce, 4 up, 3 to play.
J. W. McKinley beat Tobey, 1 up, 19 holes.
R. E. Wilsey beat R. R. Whitman, 6 up, 5 to play.
C. R. Lindenburg beat F. N. Dudleday, 1 up.

FIRST FLIGHT—AFTERNOON.
Annis beat Alexander, 1 up.
Bole beat Brown, 6 up, 4 to play.
Conklin beat Nevin, 3 up, 1 to play.
E. A. Freeman beat Oliver, 6 up, 5 to play.

SECOND FLIGHT.
Batterson beat Boyd, 3 up, 2 to play.
Parshall beat Bates, 5 up, 4 to play.
McKinley beat Moffatt, 1 up in 19 holes.
C. R. Lindenburg beat Wilcox, 1 up in 19 holes.

Tomorrow the tournament will come to a close with the finals in the first flight and the consolations. In the evening a big banquet will be given the visiting golfers by the local advertising men. Professional caddies have been given a black eye by the advertising golfers. It was discovered today that two of the Chicagoans had their own caddies with them in the persons of professional golfers to coach them. There was some talk of disqualifying the players. Then the committee decided to instruct the golfers to dismiss their professionals and employ amateur lads.

SEMI-FINALS AT HINSDALE.

Misses Everett and Palmatier Qualify for First Flight Finals, Defeating Miss Young and Miss Anthony.

First flight honors in the women's tournament at Hinsdale will be battled for this morning between Miss Frances Everett of Exmoor and Miss Annis Palmatier of Kenosha, with the chances greatly in favor of the former.

Miss Everett yesterday removed the most difficult object from her path when, in the semi-finals, she defeated Miss Elizabeth Young, the Calumet champion, by 5 up and 3 to play. Miss Palmatier had a harder task in defeating Miss Miriam Anthony of Evanston, 1 up, winning the home hole, 5 to 8. Summary of semi-finals for the three cups:

First flight—Miss F. Everett, Exmoor, defeated Miss E. Young, Calumet, 5 up, 3 to play; Miss A. Palmatier, Kenosha, defeated Miss Miriam Anthony, Evanston, 1 up.

Second flight—Mrs. L. N. Brochon, Westward Ho, defeated Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, 1 up; Mrs. F. E. Donohoe, Edgewater, defeated Mrs. C. F. Braffette, La Grange, 1 up.

Third flight—Mrs. D. Collins, Calumet, defeated Mrs. J. D. Hibbard, Homewood, 6 up, 4 to play; Miss Myrtle Smith, La Grange, defeated Mrs. R. H. Ripley, Riverside, 1 up, nineteen holes.

Miss Everett maintained her consistent work of the first two days, going out in 47 and winning six holes in succession. Miss Young halved the first and eighth and won the ninth. Cards:

Miss Marion Warren of Edgewater won the handicap against bogey, open to players defeated in the first round for the cups. With an allowance of 4, she finished 3 up. Miss Elizabeth Young, from scratch, made a 97 and finished 1 up. Miss Sara Gardner, handicapped at 5, was 2 down. Miss Ruth Steele and Mrs. F. Anderson both finished 5 down. The tournament will conclude with a mixed foursome this afternoon. Thirty-five pairs are entered. Entries can be made at the tee.

CHANDLER EGAN LEADS THE FIELD

National Champion Plays Record Breaking Golf at Onwentsia.

MAKES TOTAL OF 150.

Clips Three Strokes Off Previous Mark—Campbell Gets Five Threes.

National Champion H. Chandler Egan of the Exmoor club easily outdistanced his competitors in the preliminary skirmish for the Ravinoaks and its two subordinate cups at Onwentsia yesterday.

Playing superlative golf under perfect golfing conditions, he set a new mark of 150 for the double round of course, clipping three strokes off the previous record made by himself last year, when he won the Onwentsia cup. Making the first round in 75, he cut one stroke off the low mark made by G. F. Clingman Jr. Ned Sawyer of Wheaton last year made 74 in a match play contest. Egan made another 75 in the afternoon. The best previous total for the Ravinoaks was 156, made by the champion last year.

Ned Sawyer, runner up to Chandler Egan last year for the western championship, scored a 77, and Hugh Campbell, his club mate, a 79. The latter did a remarkable piece of work in the morning, getting four long holes and one short one in three each. He began the in journey with 6—6—5, and then made five threes in a row.

Fairbanks Not Eligible.

Veteran Fairbanks, the Denver and California player, who in the national championship at Onwentsia, won fame by playing a forty hole match against J. F. Curtis of Essex county, qualified with 165, but as he played his first golf in another country, he is not eligible for the Ravinsoaks cup and was relegated to the next division. He, with R. H. McElwee, were the only two veterans to get into the first sixteen. Ties will be played off this morning.

Chandler Egan's card was as follows:

A. M.—Out.........5 4 6 4 4 5 5 4 4—41
In.................4 4 4 4 4 4 3 3 6—34—75
P. M.—Out.........4 3 4 5 4 4 4 3 5—36

BROWN HAS TWO WINNERS

ACCOUNTANT AND RETROPAW LEAD IN BRIGHTON EVENTS.

Former Captures the Montauk Stakes, After Making All the Running, and Latter Beats Listless by a Head in the First Race, for Maiden 2 Year Olds—Bad News Takes the Seven Furlong Handicap—Rube, Favorite in Steeplechase, Breaks a Leg.

New York, July 19.—[Special.]—S. S. Brown, the Pittsburg millionaire turfman, won two races at Brighton Beach today with Accountant and Retropaw.

The Montauk stakes for 2 year olds went to Accountant. He received twenty pounds from the favorite, George C. Bennett, and after making all the running won easily by two lengths. Under a drive from Willie Davis, George C. Bennett came on in the stretch and took the place from Ormondale by a length.

Retropaw received a superb ride from Jack Martin in the first race, for maiden 2 year olds, and landed the money on the post by a head after a long, hard drive. H. D. Forbes' Listless, a filly by Voter, which made most of the pace, was second, half a dozen lengths before T. J. Gaynor's Senechal. E. R. Bradley's Bad News, after a rattling race with Jack Bennett's Pretension, won the handicap at seven furlongs in handy style. Bad News gave nineteen pounds by the scale to Pretension.

Just when Rube, the favorite in the steeplechase, seemed to have the race at his mercy he suddenly stopped with a broken leg. The accident occurred after he had taken the last jump, when he was about to leave the grass for the dirt track. He hobbled about on three legs for ten minutes until he finally was dragged into the horse ambulance, a bullet ending his agony. H. S. Page's Graceaway turned up winner. Summaries:

CANADIAN GOLFERS COMING.

Champion G. S. Lyon and Three Others Will Compete for Olympic Cup at Wheaton.

Toronto, Ont., July 19.—By a small vote, completed today, the Royal Canadian Golf association selected the Olympic team to play at Chicago on Monday, Aug. 7. The first selection, made in Ottawa, was found to be irregular and unauthorized. The official selection is George S. Lyon, Lambton, Toronto, captain; F. B. Martin, Hamilton; W. A. H. Kerr, Toronto; Douglas Laird, Toronto. The team selected is undoubtedly the best Canada can produce. Douglas Laird, the fourth man, is a wonderfully long driver, and playing for Princeton university has done exceedingly well with New York's best golfers. All of the players have accepted, and will also play in the amateur championship, which follows the team match. Lyon is the present champion and Kerr and Martin former champions of Canada.

GEERS PICKS UP A STAR TROTTER.

Turley Surprises the Horsemen at the Windsor Driving Club Races.

FINAL QUARTER IN :31 1-4.

Fierce Contest in the 2:08 Trot; Angle Shows Speed in a Workout.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

Detroit, Mich., July 19.—[Special.]—By winning the 2:14 trot at Windsor today with the big bay gelding Turley Geers showed up what looks to be a horse of grand circuit caliber, although previously he had not been looked upon even by those connected with the stable as anything out of the common.

Turley did not have to go fast to take first money, his miles being 2:14, 2:13¾, and 2:16, but he is about the most perfectly mannered horse that ever started, and in the second mile, just to take the tuck out of the others early in the fight, Geers stepped his horse over the quarter in :31¼.

A feature of the race was the first start of the California mare Mamie B., that was a great 3 year old last season and bought by the Butler stable for $6,000. She was one of the most talked of things in the string, but today would not hit a trot except now and then and was distanced in the second heat after delaying the start half an hour.

Shylock Takes Purse.

Another member of the field which also got the banner was Miss In Law, an M. and M. candidate, that trotted in 2:11 a year ago. With her former caretaker in the sulky she went away with the rest for the first heat, made a break on the turn, and was out of it.

Geers tried hard with Skin in the second race, a purse for 2:09 pacers, and the long Illinois gelding gave the hobbled Chicago pacer, Shylock, a hard battle, finishing a close second in the first mile and making a dead heat of the third in 2:10¼. The last half of this mile was done in 1:03, but the result made no difference in the relative position of the horses, as under the conditions it was limited to three heats, and as Shylock already had won a couple of times he got the big end of the purse.

So far as real racing excitement was concerned the last event was the feature. It was for 2:08 trotters, and Snyder McGregor was an almost prohibitive favorite over Maxine, Norman B., and Direct View.

Direct View after a fast finish won the first heat and became favorite, but in the second mile McGregor went straight all the way, won by a neck, but tired badly. In the third mile Maxine again went out with the track and led for three-quarters. McGregor then passed her and led into the stretch, but both Norman B. and Direct View carried him to a break, the former winning in 2:10¼. Under the conditions Norman B. and Direct View, being tied in the summary, trotted another heat for first money, the others going to the barn. This was won by Norman B.

"FADS" HAS RIVAL IN SOCIAL FIELD.

'America's Foremost Families' Now Being Investigated by District Attorney.

WORK ON CARLTON CASE.

Body of Wife Exhumed and Analysis of Organs Will Be Made at Once.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, July 19.

It now appears that as mediums for well known persons to subscribe big sums, "Fads and Fancies," at a minimum price of $1,500 a volume, and "America's Smart Set," at $500, have not had a monopoly of the field. The district attorney's office now is investigating the "Social Editors' society," which promised to produce "America's Foremost Families" at a stipulated price of $500 a copy.

"Fads and Fancies" Had Rival in Field.

The headquarters of the "Social Editors' society" has been at 329 Fifth avenue, not many blocks removed from the "Society Editors' association," although it is not intimated that the associations are related in any way.

Robert C. Criswell and Robert A. Irving are said to be the prime movers in the "Social Editors' society." Criswell and Irving also are two of the directors of the New Yorker.

Assistant District Attorney Krotel was informed today that a man pretending to represent Town Topics had tried to blackmail Giovanni Morosini, a banker. Morosini, according to the story, was asked to subscribe $2,500 for a certain publication with the alternative of being "written up" in Town Topics. Morosini told the man to "go to," and used his boot at the top of the staircase. Thereafter there appeared in Town Topics some paragraphs not complimentary to one of Morosini's daughters.

From various sources it was learned that the following persons are also subscribers to "Fads and Fancies":

Chauncey M. Depew, $2,500; J. J. Astor, $2,500; Perry Belmont, $1,500; Clarence H. Mackay, $2,500.

Exhume Body of Carlton's Wife for Analysis.

The body of Mrs. Mary Carlton, second wife of Frederick E. Carlton, was exhumed at Calvary cemetery, Long Island City, this morning. Dr. E. J. Carrol made an autopsy and the organs were handed over to Dr. O'Connor, who is to make an analysis, which will be completed in about ten days.

Inspector Cross said that if the larceny charge against Carlton failed he had evidence which he felt certain would convict Carlton on another charge. It is alleged that Carlton took the picture of a nude woman and by means known to photographers substituted the head of another woman. This picture, it is said, Carlton used to coerce the woman whose head appeared, threatening to show the picture to her relatives. It also is said that the criminal picture is that of Miss Vanderventer, with whom Carlton lived up to the time of his arrest. Miss Brosnam, in her testimony before Coroner Flaherty on Monday, referred to the picture.

Executors Offer Compromise with Ziegler's Widow.

A story of the vagaries of fortune is revealed by the suit of Mrs. William Ziegler to break the will of the "baking powder king," which left $50,000,000 to a 14 year old adopted son.

Mrs. Ziegler's only child, a son by a former husband named Gamble, who she hoped would be raised to riches by her union with Ziegler, is cut off with the pittance of $2,400 a year. The widow herself is cut off with an annuity of $50,000 a year, and two houses, one at 624 Fifth avenue, this city, the other at Noroton, Conn.

Negotiatons for a compromise of Mrs. Ziegler's suit have been begun. It was said today in Brooklyn that a settlement would be striven for within a week in order to prevent sensational disclosures.

A close friend of the widow said: "We are offered by the executors $2,000,000 in lieu of the annuity and a life interest in the real estate. They have capitalized this as a total income of $150,000 a year, and have figured out the widow's expectation of life on an insurance table."

Under a previous will made by Ziegler, it is alleged by the widow, that her son would have inherited at least $10,000,000.

Divorced Wife After Share of McGarren Estate.

The printing of a death notice today marks the opening of a fight for Alexander M. McGarren's money between the woman who bore his name and McGarren's relatives. McGarren was 73 years old when he died, June 25. Two days after his death he was buried.

McGarren was a good deal of a recluse. He told his doctor about his wife and said he hated her. He is supposed to have left a considerable estate.

Before McGarren died his nearest known relative, named McGoughran, was summoned here from his home in Rochester. McGoughran is a cousin, and there are three other cousins living. McGoughran was asked tonight what the delayed death notice, which was inserted by Hester McGarren, meant. He said:

"I really don't know what it does mean. Hester McGarren used to be the wife of Alexander McGarren. She represented herself as being a single woman when they first met. Six years ago Alexander learned that his wife had another husband living; he was Henry Schulein, a horse dealer in Chicago. McGarren left her and brought suit to annul the marriage, and this was done five years ago. The other day his former wife called here and intimated that she would bring some sort of a suit."

Senator Clark Suffers from Extreme Heat.

Senator W. A. Clark, who underwent a surgical operation last week, suffered considerably today from the excessive heat. It was learned tonight at his home that Mr. Clark's temperature rose slightly as a result of the hot weather and was about 100 during much of the day. This is not regarded as a reason for anxiety, however, and it is understood that aside from the inconvenience necessarily due to the heat, conditions were favorable to the patient. Dr. McKernon, who operated on Senator Clark, visited the patient twice during the day.

HOOKER'S FATE DUE TODAY.

New York Legislature to Vote on the Charges Against Justice of State Supreme Court.

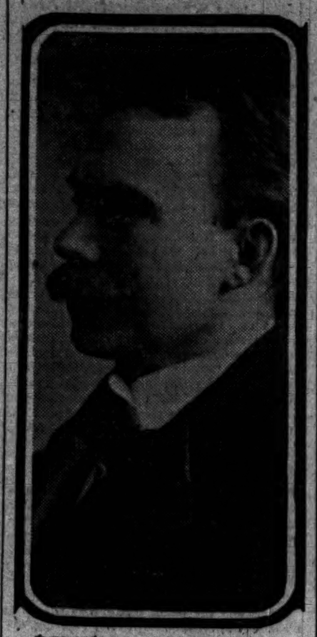

Albany, N. Y., July 19.—The fate of Warren B. Hooker of Fredonia, so far as concerns his office as a justice of the Supreme court in the Eighth judicial district, rests now with members of the two houses of the state legislature. The assembly will meet at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow to take its vote upon the question; the senate will convene at 10 to await the action of the assembly. A decision is expected during the day.

Dies After a Dive in Athletic Club.

BERNARD C. A. REDEPENNING

Bernard C. A. Redepenning, a west side optician and jeweler, died of heart disease yesterday noon a few minutes after a dive in the swimming tank at the Chicago Athletic association. Mr. Redepenning was apparently in the best of health before the plunge, but when he rose to the surface of the water other swimmers saw that he was unconscious. Dr. Frank G. Parkhall swam to his side and carried him to the landing. There the physician was joined by Drs. Homer M. Thomas, George W. Webster, and F. Kreisel. He did not regain consciousness and died before he could be removed from the natatorium.

Mr. Redepenning was not a member of the club. He was the guest of J. T. Brayton. When he complained of heat yesterday Mr. Brayton invited him to the club for a swim.

Mr. Redepenning came to Chicago twelve years ago and opened a jewelry store at 732 West Madison street. Later he attended the Northern Illinois college and was graduated as an optician. He was born in Germany forty-six years ago. When a young man he went to England, remaining there twelve years. While there he made a watch for Li Hung Chang. One of his most treasured keepsakes was a letter of thanks from the Chinese diplomat.

Funeral arrangements are not yet completed.

infected with the spirit of mutiny and which can be depended upon, therefore, in case of an emergency.

Find Sympathy in France.

Even in republican France, it is asserted, there is a strong feeling that the present dynastic government of Russia must be maintained. France today is more of a military autocracy than a republic, and its alliance with Russia means a good deal more than a mere treaty between two nations. No one in Europe wants to see either a republic or weak constitutional kingdom built up in Russia after a period of shocking carnage and downright anarchy.

The wisest men in Europe, it is said, have become convinced there must be reform in Russia. They believe, however, that this reform should come by natural steps, through regeneration of the existing government, and not by a bloody revolution, as was the case in France.

It is believed to be true that Great Britain, France, and Germany are all of the same mind in regard to the absolute necessity of preserving a stable government in Russia. They might not object to the deposition of the czar, or even to some radical changes in the Russian system, provided they are all accomplished without bloodshed.

Even the liberty loving British are well aware of the fact that the Russian peasant today is far lower in the social and intellectual scale than were the French peasant and the sans culotte of Paris, when the guillotine was doing its bloody work on the Place de la Concorde. The best judges in Europe are convinced that with the absolute downfall of the czar the undesirable classes of Russia would seize the government and resort to a period of butchery which would outclass that which made the French revolution infamous and which was stopped only by the advent of Napoleon.

Peace Important to Europe.

With this point of view prominent in the foreign offices of Europe and with a great deal of sympathy here in the United States for the unfortunate royal family of Russia, it now is intimated that the peace negotiations to be inaugurated in the United States, in anticipation of which Elihu Root took the oath of office today, will be of far more importance to the peace of Europe than even the settlement of the vexatious oriental question.

A revolution in Russia, bloodthirsty though it might be, would have a still worse effect on general European politics. With anarchy in the empire it would be impossible to preserve the balance of power in Europe and a great continental war, which has been the bugaboo to European statesmen, could not readily be avoided.

This desire of Europe for domestic peace in Russia will, it now is said, have a direct bearing on the terms which the Japanese ultimately will present at the pourparlers which will initiate the peace negotiations. An avoidance of actual hostilities, a moderation of demand, in view of the critical situation in European Russia, and the subordination of oriental politics to the pressing necessity of peace in Europe, are the three things, which, it is said, will be suggested with more or less force to the Japanese envoys by the representatives of Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, and Italy, and the influence of the president and secretary of state may be thrown in the same direction.

Paymaster Shot and Robbed.

Sherbrooke, Que., July 19.—Paymaster Percy of the Oxford Mountain railroad, has been held up by two highwaymen, shot, and severely wounded, and relieved of a large sum of money intended for employés of the road. His horse was shot from under him and he received one bullet in the shoulder and another in the leg. A posse is hunting for the robbers.

RUSSIAN ESCAPES ASSASSIN'S HAND.

Attempt on Life of Pobiedonostseff, Procurator, Is Frustrated.

HATED BY THE LIBERALS.

Leader of Reactionaries and Opposed to All Proposed Reforms.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, July 19.—An attempt to assassinate Constantine Petrovitch Pobiedonostseff as he was alighting from a train today was frustrated by the prompt seizure of the would-be assassin. The latter is held pending an investigation by the police.

As M. Pobiedonostseff stepped from one of the coaches on the train from Tsarskoe Selo, where he is resting during the summer, to the platform a man about 28 years of age rushed up with a revolver in his hand, but he was seized by a passenger before he could shoot and was turned over to the police.

Pobiedonostseff is chief procurator of the holy synod and leader of the reactionary party in Russia. He probably is more cordially hated by the liberals than any other man in the empire. The procurator has opposed persistently all reform movements, and is one of the most outspoken and consistent advocates of arbitrary rule in all Russia.

In view of his policy the attempt on his life causes no surprise.

Bomb Wounds Vice Governor.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 19.—Late this afternoon, two hours after Karl Leonard Hohenthal had been sentenced to imprisonment for life at hard labor for the assassination of Procurator General Soisalon Soininen on Feb. 6 last, an attempt was made to assassinate Vice Gov. Deutrich as he was leaving the senate.

The vice governor had walked across the square when suddenly a man on the curb threw a bomb from a distance of fifty paces. The bomb fell short, but the vice governor was blown off his feet by the force of the explosion, which shattered the windows in the neighborhood.

Vice Gov. Deutrich was assisted to the police station. He was burned and otherwise injured about the legs and bled profusely, but his wounds are declared not to be fatal.

The bomb thrower was pursued by naval cadets, but escaped.

JAP ENVOY REACHES AMERICA.

Steamship Minnesota with Baron Komura Arrives at Port Townsend, Wash.—Witte Given Honor.

Seattle, Wash., July 19.—The steamer Minnesota, with Baron Komura, head of the Japanese peace commission, and party on board, passed Tatoosh island at 5 p. m. The steamer will arrive at Port Townsend at 11 o'clock and remain there for the night.

M. Witte's Popularity Shown.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 19.—M. Witte's departure for Paris today was the occasion for a remarkable demonstration in his honor. The compartment occupied by Russia's chief peace plenipotentiary was filled with flowers and the platform of the station was crowded with friends who bade him farewell and good luck in the great mission before him.

The whole affair was a testimonial of the strength of M. Witte's personal following. Among those present were all the prominent officials who had seen service under the former minister of finance.

The secretary of the Chinese legation and the Korean minister were both in attendance. Mme. Witte accompanied her husband.

Says Witte Pleases Japs.

PARIS, July 19.—Concerning the interview of M. Witte on Monday the Temps says: "Japan welcomed M. Witte's appointment as evidence that Russia is anxious for peace. His statement shows that while always favorable to peace, he is conscious of the danger of a prolonged war if Japan insists upon onerous conditions."

JAPAN DOUBTS RUSSIA'S FAITH.

Tokio Sees in Czar's Encouraging of Linevitch and Limiting Witte Preparation for Fighting.

TOKIO, July 19.—It is believed that Emperor Nicholas recently sent an encouraging message to Gen. Linevitch, promising him men for attaining an ultimate victory. It is also reported that the Russian emperor recently ordered the mobilization of four army corps. This fact, taken in connection with the reported limitation of M. Witte's power as chief peace plenipotentiary, is deemed to be a sign that Russia is not sincere in her desire for the conclusion of peace.

Vice Admiral Kamimura reports that his flotilla of torpedo destroyers was shelled by the Russians at Yukiwan, the attacking force numbering about 200. The flotilla replied and silenced the Russians.

Russian General an Optimist.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY, GODZIYADANI, Manchuria, July 19.—Gen. Battjanoff, commander of the third Manchurian army, today declared the Japanese were unable to advance both on account of the strengthening of the Russian positions and because they have not fully recovered from their own losses at the battle of Mukden.

"Never during the whole war has the Russian army been so strong in every respect as at present," he said. "The Japanese know this and therefore they wish for peace."

ALLEGED DEFAULTER ARRESTED

Alfred Buck, Former Cashier of Minnesota Bank, Taken at Isle of Pines.

HAVANA, Cuba, July 19.—Alfred Buck, former cashier of the Mapleton (Minn.) State bank, recently was arrested at the Isle of Pines under the name of W. J. McGregor on the charge of defalcation and will be brought to Havana for extradition to the United States. Buck is alleged to have defaulted for about $60,000. He is a son of former Justice of the Supreme Court Daniel Buck of Minnesota.

BIG REFORMS FOR CHINA.

CELESTIAL EMPIRE ON EVE OF A GREAT TRANSFORMATION.

Officials to Be Sent to All Parts of the World to Study Systems of Government with Object of Putting Ideas Into Effect at Home—Japan's Triumph in War and Growing Prestige as World Porwer a Lesson to Her Neighbor.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, July 20, 3 a. m.—The Peking correspondent of the Telegraph says there are undoubted signs that at the close of the war sweeping measures of reform in the government of China are contemplated.

Officials will be sent to all parts of the world to investigate the systems of constitutional government after the manner of the mission of Prince Iwakura with reference to the restoration of Japan. Two officials will go to Japan. There also will be a secret mission regarding Manchuria. All will start a few weeks hence.

The correspondent outlines the reform scheme drafted by Viceroy Yuan Shih Kai, which, he says, is favored by the throne. It includes a thorough reorganization of the government, abolition of the old system of appointing officials, establishment of schools throughout the empire, and the adoption of a constitution.

FRAUD IN MARITAL BOND?

Unusual Charges Made in Suit of Ingrahams, Being Heard at Edinburgh.

EDINBURGH, July 19.—Singular documents were submitted today in the suit of Nathaniel Gibbs Ingraham, formerly of New York, against his wife, formerly Miss Edith Newcomb of Kentucky, now pending before the court of sessions here.

Mr. Ingraham asks that his wife be ordered to carry out their ante nuptial settlement under which he claims he is entitled to $1,500 a year, and also claims $4,000 a year by virtue of a bond granted in his favor.

The wife contends that the contract and bond were obtained by fraud. She alleges that after her separation from her first husband, Reginald H. Ward, the plaintiff induced her by various insidious devices, like fortune telling, to institute divorce proceedings against Ward and also induced her husband to consent to the proceedings.

PLAN BIG COAL AND IRON TRUST.

Three of the greatest magnates in the Essen region are here to meet the directors of the Deutsche Luxemburgische, which has a capital of $6,000,000 and debentures of $4,500,000. The shares of the mining company today recorded a jump of 20 per cent, a rise of 53 per cent since June 30.

BOYCOTT BEGUN BY CHINESE.

Retaliatory Move on American Exclusion Act May Be Halted by Celestial Government.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—A cablegram received by the state department from Shanghai says that the boycott against American goods commenced today. Every effort was made to allay the agitation which, it is stated, is a part of the retaliation of the Chinese against the exclusion laws of the United States.

It is believed the boycott will not be successful or do any particular injury to American goods except in the cities of Canton and Shanghai, where the guilds are stronger than elsewhere.

There is no official action which the United States government can take as long as it remains a simple boycott or refusal to purchase American goods, but it is thought the boycott will be discouraged by the Chinese government as far as possible.

Bryan's Bennett Account Accepted.

New Haven, Conn., July 19.—The account of the Philo S. Bennett case as filed by William J. Bryan, as executor, was accepted today by Judge Cleaveland. This practically settles the case.

CZAR'S ADMIRAL EXPLAINS DEFEAT

Rojestvensky Says Ships Were Dishonestly Built and the Shells Were Bad.

SPIRIT OF MUTINY RIFE.

Fourteen Men Executed at Madagascar—Vessels Disloyal in Battle.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, July 19.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of La Liberte, Admiral Rojestvensky, in his report of the battle of Tsushima straits, which resulted in the practical annihilation of his fleet, says his ships were bad. They had been not only hastily but dishonestly built. The thickness of their armor did not agree with the official figures in the case of any vessel. Moreover, it was of inferior quality.

The admiral says the shells were bad. Two-thirds of them did not explode. None of the ships was able to carry the necessary coal and none of them attained the guaranteed speed. The engines and boilers were poor and always required repairs.

Mutiny; Fourteen Executed.

Two-thirds of the crews, including those of Vice Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron, were incapable. The gunners were ignorant of the elementary laws of firing.

A mutiny occurred while the fleet was at Madagascar, and fourteen men were executed. Admiral Rojestvensky had to train guns on two of his ships, the Admiral Seniavin and the Admiral Apraxine, to restore order. The crews had decided secretly to surrender to the enemy. This was discovered too late.

There was another mutiny on Vice Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron near Formosa, and Admiral Rojestvensky had difficulty in preventing the mutineers from seizing the greater part of the squadron.

Did Not Obey Orders.

Admiral Rojestvensky saw from the outset of the battle that the Admiral Seniavin and the Admiral Apraxine were not obeying orders. They only fired when he sent torpedo boats to them, and threatened to sink them unless they obeyed.

Almost simultaneously with his removal to the torpedo boat, Admiral Enquist disappeared, Admiral Voelkersam was killed, Admiral Nebogatoff, who was unpopular with his sailors, was obliged to take command. Then the rout began. Admiral Nebogatoff's orders were ignored. It was every one for himself. The crews of some ships threatened to kill their officers unless they surrendered.

L. A. COOLIDGE TO SUCCEED RIDGELY AS CONTROLLER?

Reported That Washington Man Will Assume Office When Illinoisan's Term Expires in Autumn of 1906.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—It was reported on good authority here today that the president will appoint Louis A. Coolidge of Washington controller of the currency, to succeed William Barret Ridgely of Illinois, when Ridgely's term expires in the autumn of 1906. The controller is appointed for a term of five years, and cannot be removed during good behavior.

Mr. Coolidge was for several years a newspaper correspondent in Washington, and last year he was appointed assistant secretary of the republican national commitee, with headquarters in New York during the political campaign.

He is a native of Massachusetts, a graduate of Harvard college, and enjoys the warm friendship of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge as well as of President Roosevelt and many other public men.

A Popular Young Society Woman Tells How She Regained Her Health.

1117 Woodland Ave., Kansas City, Mo.
Peruna Drug Mfg. Co., Columbus, Ohio.
Gentlemen:

"Peruna has done me such a world of good in giving me new health and strength that I want to tell you of its value to me. I was rundown and had lost my appetite during the warm days of last summer. I became thin, weak and nervous, and needed a stimulating tonic. I took other medicine, which did not seem to help me, but Peruna built up my system, infused new life, gave renewed energy and restored me to perfect health. I took only six bottles, and shall never be without it."

—Ada Baker.
(Member Hillside Athletic Club.)

The symptoms of summer catarrh vary in different cases, but the most common ones are lassitude, played-out, tired-out, rundown, used-up feelings, combined with a more or less heavy, stupid, listless, mental condition.

Peruna meets all these conditions at this season of the year.

Thousands of women suffer from catarrhal nervousness and exhaustion during the summer months. If you feel fagged out, begin at once taking Peruna. It will relieve your catarrhal condition and restore you to health. If you desire special advice, write to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

ANSON AND EHRHORN.

The recent trial of ex-City Clerk William Loeffler and others on the charge of altering the records of the city council came to naught. The indictment was fatally defective. Mr. Ehrhorn, one of the parties accused, still holds the responsible office of assistant city clerk, where his continuance without further sifting of the prima facie case made out against him is a public scandal. Yet Mr. Loeffler's successor in office says, according to an alleged interview, that he will not file charges against him.

The civil service commission has hitherto acted upon the theory that it can only try a civil service employé on charges filed by his superior, and according to this notion Mr. Ehrhorn could not be disturbed save by consent of City Clerk Anson. This theory, however, appears never to have been specifically established judicially, and it is certainly open to question.

The assistant city clerk stands before the public accused of managing a carefully planned falsification of the city council's records and receiving therefor a money consideration of $100. If he is guilty he should be promptly removed from an office where he might at any time repeat the offense. If he is not guilty he should be exculpated.

It is primarily the duty of the city clerk to see that the case is tried by the civil service commission. If, however, he refuses to take action it is the duty of the civil service commission, as the final guardian of the purity of the classified service, to see, if possible, that the case is properly dealt with. Failing, therefore, the filing of charges by City Clerk Anson, the commission should obviously use its powers to proceed on its own initiative to file and try charges. If the city clerk, however, does actually refuse to take up the matter, this fact should, as a preliminary, be made clearly understood by the public.

IT RESTS WITH THE CZAR.

M. Witte, the senior Russian peace plenipotentiary, does not say that he is coming to this country to make peace with Japan. He comes to ascertain the terms of peace proposed by Japan and thus to find out whether it is possible to conclude a treaty. He refuses to admit that the condition of Russia is, like that of France thirty-five years ago, so desperate that she is ready to make peace on any terms.

It is true, as M. Witte says, that "the ultimate decision remains in the hands of the emperor." Peace cannot be made without him, and he probably does not know what he should do until he hears what the mikado wants. The plenipotentiaries are merely mouthpieces.

Fortunately this is a day of telegraphs. When Franklin and his colleagues were negotiating the first treaty of peace with Great Britain they had to act on their own responsibility and disobey instructions if it seemed expedient. They could not consult congress. They could not wait for sailing vessels to make slow trips across the Atlantic. Today the czar and the mikado can know immediately everything that is said and done at the Portsmouth navy yard. It will be about the same as if they were in adjoining rooms.

M. Witte says if the Japanese demands wound the "amour propre" of the Russian people or jeopardize their future as a nation they will be rejected. The Russian people have no voice in the matter. It is the "amour propre" of the czar that must not be wounded, and demands which may seem reasonable to Japan may wound it.

Everything depends on the mood of the czar when he learns the Japanese proposals, and on the internal condition of the empire at the moment. If the war party should have his ear and if there were a momentary abatement of domestic turmoil he might refuse to accept conditions which under other circumstances he would assent to. Possibly M. Witte is as much at sea about the prospects of peace as the public in general.

"FAMILY AFFAIRS."

When a crime has been committed in the city and the police do not seem to make much headway in its investigation it is the duty of the state's attorney to take the matter in hand. That is why Mr. Healy is beginning an inquiry into the assault on Michael Donnelly. The law makes it his duty to bring to justice the men guilty of the assault even if Donnelly himself should ask that they be let alone.

Many labor men, who may be ignorant of the law, accuse the state's attorney of meddling with matters which do not concern him. They think it impudence on his part to thrust himself without an invitation into their "family affairs." The unwillingness to admit that those "affairs," even when they take the form of riot and assault, should interest the officers of the law, may make it difficult for the state's attorney to get much information, but he should get all he can.

Sometimes when an Italian is shot or stabbed the police find it impossible to get from his friends any information about his assailant. Either the friends are afraid to speak less they be the next to suffer, or they intend to take vengeance on that assailant in their own way at their own time.

The state of mind of some Italians appears to be that of the labor men who are accusing State's Attorney Healy of improper activity. Either they are afraid of being caught by "wrecking crews" and beaten if they talk too much or they intend to organize some crews of their own and wreck the wreckers when opportunity offers. Or it may be they are afraid that if one were to begin telling tales others would follow suit, and there would be revelations which would involve many. Conditions are unwholesome or an investigation by the officers of the law would not be so unwelcome.

The state's attorney has the grand jury behind him. It has a right to ask questions even when they relate to "family affairs." A witness who swears that he does not know what he does know makes himself liable to prosecution for perjury. The persons whom Mr. Healy will summon before the grand jury to get information as to the assailants of Donnelly should not profess too great ignorance, for if they do they may find themselves in a tight place.

THE CAUSES OF CRIME.

Undoubtedly the number of executions as compared with that of murders has decreased during the last twenty years. It does not follow necessarily that the percentage of murderers who escape punishment is increasing.

Statistics, to be valuable, should be complete. When it is stated that last year there were 8,482 murders and homicides and 116 executions, the whole story is not told. A full record would set forth in how many cases parties supposed to be guilty had been arrested and tried, how many had been sentenced to the gallows, how many had been imprisoned for life or for a term of years, and how many had been acquitted. There are many murders which begin and remain mysterious. It is impossible to find evidence of value connecting any one with them. That may prove that the agencies for the detection of crime are imperfect, but it does not reflect on the administration of justic in the criminal courts.

There is a growing reluctance on the part of juries to send men to the scaffold unless they have committed particularly heinous murders. It is not surprising that in spite of an increase in murders only eight more persons were hanged in 1904 than in 1885. Whether the number of persons convicted and imprisoned was larger last year the compiler of criminal statistics does not report. But until the number of convictions is known one cannot decide with certainty whether it is much safer to commit murder than it used to be.

No doubt there are some men accused of murder who get off on technicalities that would not have saved them once. The law moves more languidly than it did, and that enables some men to escape justice. But the percentage of those who thus escape is unknown. It cannot be ascertained from a record which gives only the number of murders and executions.

There are grave defects in the administration of criminal law. Secretary Taft called public attention to some of them the other day. But the lax enforcement of law by the courts is not the only thing which encourages the commission of crime. The lax enforcement of law by local authorities is an important factor which should not be overlooked. There have been a number of murders and homicides in Chicago due to the teamsters' strike. In only a few instances are the guilty parties known. There would have been no such murders or homicides if the municipal authorities had not failed for years to maintain peace and order when strikes occurred. They allowed a spirit of lawlessness to grow up which found expression in murder.

Blame for the volume of crime should be distributed with an impartial hand. Let the courts have their full share, but do not overlook the laches of those who are specially charged with the prevention of crime. When they get into the habit of tolerating disorder and violence they are making business for the criminal courts.

GIVE THE BABIES A CHANCE.

Thirty-four infants died in Chicago on Tuesday because of the hot weather, coming on top of improper food, care, and surroundings. The principal reason for the lack of these things is that they were "tenement babies"; their parents were unable to provide for them in a manner to keep them alive.

Men with more money than they need and with highly philanthropic tendencies constantly keep the country on the qui vive, wondering where the lightning of their charity will next strike and another library or university spring into existence. An expedition backed by wealth is going to search for a north pole that no one needs. A fund of millions has been provided for pensioning college professors grown old in charity will next strike and another library the harness. But the babies in the sweltering tenements seem to have escaped the attention of these distributers of millions. Their condition, their sufferings, their chances for life, have not increased in a manner compatible with the tenets of highest civilization. Why not give them a chance?

The spectacle of infants in the tenement districts during the hot weather is a pitiful one. All people suffer in these districts during the hot waves, but the babies most of all. The men, women, and older children can at least make some effort toward obtaining relief from the heat. The infants are helpless. All the evils of insanitary tenements, spoiled milk, and improper food work to decrease their chances for life and comfort. There is no coolness to bring them sleep, nothing to give them a little respite from the deadly heat. Why can't they have these things?

Caring for helpless infants is a comparatively inexpensive charity. The price of a library building will give a thousand infants a chance for life and comfort. The endowment fund of a single college thus expended would send the name of a philantropist down through the ages as a friend of helpless little ones. The bureau of charities, in providing pure milk for tenement babies, and THE TRIBUNE ice fund, in bringing health-giving coolness to them, are working wonders in the saving of sick babies. But there must be more work along these lines—the erection of model tenements and the adoption of practical and scientific means for saving young lives—before the mortality statistics among infants will cease to be a rebuke to our highly vaunted civilization.

Business Subterfuge.

The driver of the ice wagon walked up to the steps of the business man and threw a cupful of water on the top step.

Then he turned and drove his ice wagon hurriedly away.

The inquisitive person who stood near by and who had witnessed the proceeding called to the driver and asked him to explain.

"O, sir," said the driver, pleasantly, "you see, the people in that house do not get up until an hour or so later, and they need not know whether the wet spot on the steps was made by ice or plain water. They never get any ice, any way. I must hurry away, now, because at 10 o'clock I must be back to collect."

And he drove guilelessly away.—Baltimore American.

Proper Pause in the Prayer.

"'If I should die 'fore I wake,'" said Donny, kneeling at his grandmother's knee, "'if I should die 'fore I wake—'"

"'I pray,'" prompted the gentle voice; "go on, Donny."

"Wait a minute," interposed the small boy, scrambling to his feet and hurrying away downstairs. In a brief space he was back again and, dropping down in his place, took up his petition where he had left it. But when the little white gowned form was safely tucked in bed the grandmother questioned with loving rebuke concerning the interruption.

"But I did think what I was sayin', grandmother; that's why I had to stop. You see, I'd upset Ted's menagerie, and stood all his wooden soldiers on their heads, just to see how he'd tear round in the mornin'. But 'if I should die 'fore I wake'—why, I didn't want him to find 'em that way, so I had to go down and fix 'em right. There's lots of things that seem funny if you're goin' to keep on livin', but you don't want 'em that way if you should die 'fore you wake.'"

"That was right, dear; it was right," commenced the voice, with its tender quaver. "A good many of our prayers wouldn't be hurt by stopping in the middle of them to undo a wrong."—Springfield Republican.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

COUNTESS WITTE, wife of the eminent statesman who has just been appointed by the czar to be his principal plenipotentiary in the peace negotiations with Japan at Portsmouth, N. H., next month, is a Jewess, a fact which I have not seen mentioned in any of the reviews of the career of the count published in connection with his nomination. Those who recall the treatment of the Jewish race in Russia by court, government, and people will be able to appreciate the extent to which this union has handicapped De Witte, the situation being rendered still more difficult by the fact that the countess, besides being of humble birth, was formerly the wife of the obscure official subordinate of De Witte, to wed whom she obtained a dissolution of her first marriage.

It is true that the countess is a clever woman, that her second marriage was a love match, and that she and her husband are a devoted couple. Moreover, her salons at St. Petersburg are frequented by "La Haute Finance," both Russian and foreign, which has led on more than one occasion to totally unfounded and slanderous rumors, circulated by her husband's political foes, to the effect that the habitués of her salons used them to hatch "coups de bourse" on the money markets both at home and abroad with official information and secrets obtained through her from the count. On one occasion the charges of this kind took such a pronounced form that De Witte demanded of the czar an independent inquiry into their foundation, which resulted in the establishment of the groundlessness of the accusations.

With all that, however, Mme. de Witte has until now not been received at court and the great world at St. Petersburg has followed suit, that is to say, the feminine portion thereof. In fact, the late Demitri Sipjaguine, who was murdered a few years ago while holding the office of minister of the interior, incurred no end of ill will, not only in society but also at court, when not long after his marriage to Princess Vyasemska he was led by his warm friendship for De Witte to take his bride to call upon the latter's wife. Indeed, the widowed czarina did not hesitate to manifest her displeasure in a marked manner to Sipjaguine about the matter.

De Witte is devoted to his daughter, who has been in a particular way her father's companion and confidante. She is married to a member of the illustrious house of Narishkine, which, although untitled, is one of the oldest and grandest of the Muscovite aristocracy, several czarinas having been Narishkines, including the mother of Peter the Great.

Robert Collier, who was stationed for a time at Washington shortly after his appointment to the English diplomatic service and who left here only a few months ago, has just been promoted to a second secretaryship of embassy. He is the eldest son and heir of Lord Monkswell, who was the under secretary of state for war in the last Rosebery administration and lord in waiting to Queen Victoria, and now chairman of the London county council, that is to say, virtually lord mayor of all that immense portion of London not comprised in the narrow limit of what is known as "the city." Lord Monkswell worked hard as a lawyer before succeeding to the peerage of his father, Sir Robert Collier, the famous judge, and was likewise known at the bar as one of the most skillful and erudite conveyancers. Financially he is well off, his grandfather on the paternal side having been a Plymouth merchant of large fortune.

Lord Monkswell's brother, John Collier, is one of the most successful portrait painters in London, and his picture entitled "The Cheat" in this year's London academy has attracted wide attention on both sides of the Atlantic, having been extensively reproduced in the American press. He married first one of the daughters of the late Prof. Huxley, and after her death her younger sister, and inasmuch as despite all the efforts and influence of King Edward and of other members of the reigning house marriages with deceased wife's sisters remain forbidden by English law, though permitted in the colonies, it is fortunate that Lord Monkswell has other boys besides his eldest son, Robert. For the existing conditions of English law would not admit the succession to the Monkswell peerage of the sons of the Hon. John Collier by his second marriage, since in a statutory sense they are illegitimate.

Prince Bülow, the German chancellor, is one of the six sons of the late Bernard von Bülow, who was for so many years principal secretary of state under the great Bismarck and married to a Miss Rucker of Hamburg. Of the chancellor's five brothers, Gen. Adolph von Bülow was killed while out hunting near Darmstadt about seven years ago; another, Alfred von Bülow, is German minister to Switzerland. Then there is Capt. Christian von Bülow, who is married to his cousin, Miss Isabelle Rucker of Hamburg, and lives in Italy. Another brother lives in Madrid, while still another, Maj. Ulric von Bülow, is military attaché of the German embassy at Vienna and an A. D. C. of the kaiser.

Prince Bülow has two stepchildren, the issue of his wife's previous marriage to Count Donhoff, Prussian envoy at Dresden. One of these is the wife of Count Nicholas Wallwitz, German minister at Brussels, while the son, now about 30 years of age, Count Siegfried Donhoff, resides at Cologne. Prince Bülow's four surviving brothers are like their father, plain "Von Bülows, that is to say, nobles without the rank of count or even baron, and as I pointed out in these letters the other day the emperor has reserved for himself the right of designating which of the four brothers or their sons are to inherit the titles of count and of prince successively conferred upon the childless chancellor.

Prince Clement Metternich, whose engagement to the daughter of the duchess of San Carlos, grand mistress of the household of King Alfonso's sister, the Infanta Marie Therese, has just been announced, is the only son of Prince Paul Metternich, the present chief of the Metternich family and sole heir, not merely to his father's honors but also to the name of Metternich. For Prince Paul, now quite an old man, and his son, are the only two male survivors of this family, which has played so great a rôle in European politics.

Since the death of Prince Paul's elder brother, Richard, who was Austrian ambassador at Paris and husband of the celebrated Princess Pauline, evil days have overtaken the house of Metternich. Indeed, Prince Paul has become involved in all sorts of financial difficulties, and greatly to the disgust of his widowed sister-in-law, Princess Pauline, who now calls herself "Princess Metternich-Sandor," has been lately selling off a lot of the family treasure, his disposal of an exquisite writing table of rosewood inlaid with gold, made for King Louis XIV. of France, presented by the first Napoleon to the great Prince Metternich of his day and used by the latter until his death, having attracted no end of attention. Prince Clement Metternich is about 35 years of age, and now that he is marrying a Spaniard will doubtless apply to King Alfonso to grant him a patent reviving the Grandezza, which was conferred in the first place upon his grandfather, the celebrated Prince Metternich, at the beginning of the last century.

The title taken by the late speaker of the house of commons, William Gully, on being according to precedent invested with a peerage on his retirement from the chair, is that of Viscount Selby. Selby is the maiden name of his wife, and this is the first occasion in the history of the English peerage that a member of the upper house of the national legislature has paid so pretty a compliment to his better half. As a general rule, new peers in selecting a title either retain their own patronymic, like Lords Farquhar and Kitchener, or else the name of their estate, their country seat, or their native town, or of the locality with which they have been more particularly identified, care being taken to avoid pitching upon a name or title already included among the honors of some other peer. Lord Selby, the grandson of Gully, the famous pugilist and bookmaker, is the first to choose his wife's name for the purpose.

MIDSUMMER DAYDREAM

[Copyright: 1905: By Tribune Company.]

I know where there's a hill
Where the brook makes a bend
To go down to the mill,
And the meadowlands end
And the forest trees rise
With the shadows between
That are glad to one's eyes
And are soothingly green.

And you look far away
From the hilltop, and see
How the breezes all stray
Past the hawberry tree
That is deep in the wheat,
And go whispering low
In the glimmer of heat
Where the red poppies grow.

And the butterflies lag
Near the vines on the ground,
And the bumble bees brag
Of the sweets they have found;
And the clouds sail along
In the sea of the sky,
And the lark trills a song
And the thrush makes reply.

Miles away, so it seems,
Are the spires of the town—
But the shade holds our dreams
Where the light shuttles down;
And there is not a sigh,
And there is not a care,
And the hilltop is high—
And I want to go there.

THE STUDY OF BIRDS.

[From the Westminster Budget.]

The International Ornithological congress, now meeting in London for the first time, has gathered together nearly 400 representatives from almost every important seat of learning in the world. Five European governments also have sent delegates. Rarely before have so many devotees of a particular branch of science rallied to one center. The congress is a record one, both in the number of its members and in the interest it has aroused.

There are two types of bird student to be met with at the meetings, which are being held in the Imperial institute. There is the ardent scientist—the ornithologist pure and simple—who, despite the profundity of his studies, is really the fountain head of all our popular information. And there is the man who would modestly describe himself as a "bird lover," who probably knows little of Latin classification, but who watches patiently, observes accurately, remembers, and is full of charming conversation.

There is a third type, not to be found in the congress, and who, perhaps, could not well be defined as a bird student, but who forms the vast majority of those who are interested in birds today. He is of all ages and all classes all over the country. He might shy at the term "bird lover," but would be ready to admit that he is interested. His interest is a thing comparatively of yesterday. His existence is significant of that gradual turning of the multitude into the quiet ways of nature to find pleasurable recreation which marks the present day.

The great aim of the congress is to bring the world's knowledge of birds up to date, and the lecturers from many countries have widely different ends in view. Some are concerned with new birds. Mr. William S. Bruce and Dr. E. A. Wilson, for instance, have come prepared to give the latest information on antarctic birds, and count von Berlepoch on new neotropical birds.

Others, like Mr. Frank M. Chapman, who has lectured on the American flamingo and the brown pelican, have given valuable contributions to what is already known of the life history of certain birds. Mr. Chapman exhibited a lantern slide of a flamingo sitting on its nest, which disposed forever of an old theory that the bird built its nest high, and sat, or stood, straddle legged over it. The flamingo, it was shown, doubles up its extraordinary length of leg much like a carpenter's rule, and sits something like a swan.

Problems of the distribution and movements of birds have been thrashed out. Padre Ernesto Schmiz of Madeira drew attention to the remarkable fact that Madeira and the Canaries, though they lie so close to Africa, do not derive their birds from that country, but from the north. Dr. P. L. Sclater explained that the northeast trade winds, blowing all the year round, bring Madeira its birds, which are nearly all stragglers from the north. One bird found in Madeira is the snow bunting, which would certainly not be looked for in Africa.

Such fine questions as "The significance of sequence in molts and plumages," "Nestling birds and their bearing upon the question of evolution," and "Erythrism in eggs" have been raised by some members. On the evolution question Mr. W. P. Pycraft has advanced a theory that originally all birds nested in trees, and that the first cause of their nesting on the ground was overcrowding. The fact was mentioned that the oldest fossil bird in existence, the archœopteryx, was a tree dweller.

But although the congress is principally concerned with the scientific aspects of bird study, there is an important section dealing with economic ornithology and bird protection which has a direct popular interest. Economic ornithology appeals to every farmer in the land, although the majority might not understand the term. They do understand, however, the value of the sparrow clubs which are becoming so popular in agricultural districts. Prof. Herman has already reported on his investigation of the food of birds since 1900. Today the question of the usefulness and the harm of the sparrow from the farmer's point of view is to be discussed, and it is certain that the congress will support the Rev. H. H. Slater's recent statement to members of the Farmers' club that the sparrow "has attached itself to man, influenced by his untidiness and wastefulness, until it has become about the worst of all his pests." As to the rook, opinion on which is much divided among English farmers, Prof. Herman has brought from Hungary a case containing the contents of the crops of rooks taken at different times in the year, the lesson of which is certainly that the rook is a great devourer of some of the farmer's worst pests.

Bird protection is a subject on which most of the members of the congress are agreed. There must not be different laws in neighboring counties, or even in neighboring countries; but unless there is united international action many of our most usefur and beautiful birds will soon become extinct. The outlook is decidedly favorable for such international coöperation, for this congress has been prolific of evidence proving its need.

Surprise for the Bully.

A West Bromwich magistrate tells a story of a small dog, which, having been defeated by the butcher's ferocious bull terrier, collected half a dozen other dogs, and after feasting them on pieces of meat which it had stored up, led them to the fray, and, with their aid, avenged his disgrace by thoroughly whipping the terrier.—Westminster Budget.

NATIONAL CAPITAL ENVELOPED IN SEASON OF MIDSUMMER INACTIVITY.

President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay Keeps in Close Touch with National Affairs While Subordinates Are on Vacation—Interest in Peace Congress—Gen. Leonard Wood Meets Emergencies.

BY RICHARD WEIGHTMAN.

Washington, D. C., July 19.—[Special.]—Everything of serious importance is enveloped just now in that attractive nimbus of uncertainty which makes so much for idle midsummer speculation in the afternoon hammock or on the moonlight veranda of the seaside resorts. There is nobody in Washington—nobody to speak of, I mean. The seat of government, and, therefore, the source of activity has been transferred to Oyster Bay. Nothing remains but the mills of routine, the occasional parade of a society pet, and the languid efforts of the once proud doorkeepers of great offices to slap a fly.

Secretary Bonaparte is here much of his time, and already has made his presence known by reversing his predecessor's action in the matter of the navy civil engineers on duty at the Charleston navy yard. I thought that would be done by somebody before it was known that Mr. Bonaparte was to succeed Mr. Morton, and I wrote THE TRIBUNE to that effect, for a clearer case of political "pull" to the injury of the public service seldom has been revealed.

Root Due in Capital.

Mr. Root is due in town today for the purpose of taking the oath and then escaping as soon as possible. But he will shed a vast amount of perspiration before he reduces the machinery of the state department to a system of coherence and effectiveness, even though he should postpone the job until December.

Meanwhile the peace conference is still in a state of agreeable, not to say exciting, obscuration. It is confidently believed in some quarters that M. de Witte and Baron Rosen, the czar's ambassador to this court, are to be the Russian representatives. On the other hand, we learn through the London press representatives that M. de Routkowsky has been appointed and that he has accepted. "You pays your money and you takes your choice."

Cautious folk remember that Prince Muravieff was first appointed, but did not materialize. And they consider, also, the fact that Rosen, Routkowsky, even De Witte, all or any of them, may yet be displaced, or that the whole enterprise may fall through. Guesswork, therefore, like an unhooded falcon, flies where it will.

Peace Far or Near?

The Russian delegate is represented as telling the press that his hopes of an amicable adjustment are not able to walk alone, while the Japanese envoy at London, according to the same authority, is, if possible, more pessimistic than M. de Witte himself. So, if we have not an open door in any other direction—China, for example—we at least have free pratique of the realm of speculation, and it won't cost us a cent to make the most of it.

When the two sets of conferees finally assemble at Portsmouth, N. H., we shall know to a certainty who and what they are. Till then, however, we are apt to go astray if we leave the airy, fairy domain of Perhaps. Let us discuss the various announcements as they are promulgated, and have all the fun we can with them; but it will never do to commit ourselves to the rabbit soup menu until we not only catch our rabbit but skin him and put him in the pot.

It is nearly, if not fully, a month since I saw in print a declaration to the effect that peace between Russia and Japan might be expected within forty-eight hours. It did no harm, of course, but it stimulated the cultivation of a philosophic though perfectly good natured conservatism. There is no reason, though, why we should not amuse ourselves as the pageant passes with its music and its banners. What everybody wants, after all, is a conference which will result in peace. That was President Roosevelt's motive in inaugurating the negotiation. Neither he nor any one else cares three straws about the material or the personnel of the confabulation.

Wood's Destination Isthmus?

And now comes another agency of affectionate and fussy contention—the future movements of Gen. Leonard Wood. One hears it said on every side that he is to be sent to Panama to kill the mosquitoes and convert those malignant swamps and quagmires into so many fields of Enna—salubrious, balsamic, beautiful. Maybe so; but I rather think this conjecture owes its existence to the president's address to the medical men, the other day, when he spoke of the runaways from the Panama canal strip and eulogized Wood as the genius who had banished disease from Cuba. One need not have been especially impetuous to put two and two together and jump to the logical result.

But I hardly think Leonard Wood, whom I have known many years and for whose attractive personality I have a sincere admiration, will be sent to Panama, nor can I imagine that the president would ask him to go. A good deal of mystery surrounds the general at present. He has returned to his home for the purpose of undergoing a surgical operation, which evidently relates to some serious affliction, and to order him to Panama either now or in the calculable future would seem an act of wanton cruelty.

Wood Equal to Emergencies.

Moreover, there is no visible occasion for such a measure. If the canal strip be susceptible of sanitation—which is still an open question—Gen. Wood certainly is not indispensable to the desired consummation. He is a fine surgeon, an ideal medical man, equipped with vast physical strength and the serene, magnetic temperament which go further with the sufferer than all the drugs in the pharmacopœia.

In the sickroom Wood is a messenger of calm, of courage, and of confidence. In every situation he is so sure of himself, so completely poised, so evidently equal to the most formidable emergency, so assured and self-contained, you spontaneously turn to him as to the pillar of protection and of strength.

It is not at all difficult to understand the influence he exerts—quite without intent or calculation—upon a nature so impressionable as that of President Roosevelt. He is the latter's easy superior in all matters of physical strength and athletic achievement. Without serious effort he can beat him at boxing, wrestling, running, leaping, horseback accomplishment, single stick, or fencing. Theodore Roosevelt is a mere baby in Leonard Wood's hands at any game or under any test—of course, I mean, in the field of athletics. The president, therefore, always a generous antagonist, incapable of envy or resentment, admires him extravagantly.

Strong Man, but Modest.

But I do not think that the president or any one else believes that Gen. Wood deserves the credit for the sanitary condition that was established in Cuba during the three years of our occupation. Wood did excellent work in Santiago. A man of high medical attainment and unusual common sense, he set about the disinfection and the cleansing of that long neglected town as soon as he was put in charge. Moreover, he conducted the enterprise to an unexpectedly successful conclusion. But it is not true that he "cleaned up" Havana, or Cienfuegos, or Matanzas, or any other of the important Cuban cities.

What he did in Santiago, Carpenter did in Cienfuegos, Wilson and Sanger did in Matanzas, and William Ludlow did in Havana. It is absurd to suppose that Wood was the inventor of the idea or the chief exponent of its virtues, and he would be the last man to claim renown on either score. Wood is a strong man and a modest one.

CHICAGO CONVENTION CITY.

Chicago is to be made the "convention city." This was decided yesterday at a special meeting of the Chicago Commercial association at the banquet room of the Grand Pacific. A standing committee on conventions was appointed. An effort will be made to interest business men outside of the organization.

For the purpose of furthering Chicago's interests, 200 volunteers will be asked to subscribe $50 each. The membership in the association also may be extended. It was an enthusiastic group of men that gathered around the table. They were actuated by the spirit that had made the Columbian exposition possible. It was suggested that if no adequate convention hall at present was available a new one be erected.

A. M. Compton was chairman. From the moment his gavel struck the table interest in the new proposition never lagged.

Want All Sorts of Conventions.

"We want every kind of a convention here," said John G. Shedd of Marshall Field's. "Everything from the annual conference of schoolma'ams to the labor conventions. And we are willing to make inducements. Delegates to a convention attend the convention to spend money. If Chicago could have secured a proportionate number of conventions during the last year the local merchants would have realized thousands of dollars.

"Merely as a business proposition we should follow out the suggestion of the committee to make Chicago an attractive convention center. Chicago has plenty of attractions, and delegates want to see something outside the convention hall. A larger number of conventions will give a great impetus to Chicago trade. Every order placed with a Chicago merchant is an advertisement to the city.

"Chicago spirit is one of congeniality. We have a reputation to maintain. It is for us to let the western merchant know that he is wanted and to take care of him when he gets here. The investment will pay us a hundred fold. The association does not want charity—simply investment."

Since the world's fair, Chicago is said to have lost its hold on convention people. It has been estimated that more than 3,000 conventions are held annually in the United States. It is the greater percentage of these that Chicago now intends to gather in.

Convention Committee Chosen.

The following convention committee was appointed:

C. A. Stevens, Chairman, Charles A. Stevens & Bro.
Joseph Beifeld, vice chairman, White City.
Joseph Basch, Siegel, Cooper & Co.
Edwin S. Conway, W. W. Kimball company.
Jacob L. Kesner, general manager the Fair.
Harry J. Powers, Powers' theater.
Mason B. Starring, general manager City railway.
L. M. Stumer, Stumer, Rosenthal & Eckstein.
John R. Thompson, John R. Thompson's restaurants.
W. C. Vierbuchen, president Chicago Hotel association.

Another meeting to consider futher plans is to be held soon.

Dumb Children's Cheers.

The gayety of deaf and dumb children finds expression, not in hand clapping alone, but in noisy cheers. The young inmates of the Royal Deaf and Dumb institute at Derby held carnival on Saturday, the occasion being the formal opening of a new recreation ground. They had races and other sports, and the cheering at the success of a favorite was almost as noisy as that of children favored with full vocal powers. The new system of education of the dumb enables them to make intelligible sounds.—Westminster Budget.

VISIBLE TO PHYSICIANS' EYES.

[From the London Mirror.]

"The medical man is on nodding terms with death at most street corners in our larger towns."

A writer in this week's Lancet, pointing out that a doctor sees many things which are hidden from the average man's eyes, sums up the position in this grim phrase.

The medical man, he says, must remain a pathologist in the street, and he sees many unsuspected tragedies. Who else would suspect the sword of Damocles that is hanging above this red faced merchant, or see in his cheeks the signal of a fruit overripe?

To the lay mind this portly person stands for all that is prosperous and confident, and his appetite is the envy of many of his dyspeptic friends—who will send wreaths to his grave.

See the bluff and kindly manner in which he hands a shilling to a thin faced woman selling boot laces in the gutter. It is only the medical man who will dare to prophesy white hairs for her long after her benefactor has been gathered to his fathers.

Behind sunburnt cheeks—cheeks that make all these other jostling faces look pallid and worn by contrast—the medical man is quick to recognize the imprint of the health resort, other things pointing to an ominous diagnosis.

The woman with the curious red spot upon her face affords him a somber chapter for reflection. Whether it be lupus or epithelioma or rodent ulcer, it will mean far greater obsession of bodily and mental pain than that of any broken limb.

But, on the other hand, the doctor has compensations. He sees that the pallid man with his arm in a sling will in a few weeks be able to dig or ride to hounds; that the hopeless cripple appealing to the charity of passers-by is in no pain, and probably as well able to enjoy life as any one else.

Might Change His Mind.

[From the Mariner's Advocate.]

The marriage service had proceeded without a hitch so far, but the responses proved a stumbling block. Neither the groom nor his partner had received much in the "edication" line; so, when the parson in his most dignified tone asked the usual question, "Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" Jack immediately answered "I 'ull."

"You must say, 'I will,'" corrected the cleric, and asked the question over again.

"I 'ull," responded Jack, more firmly than ever.

The irate clergyman threatened to stop the service altogether if the response was not properly given. That was too much for Sally, who broke in, quite savagely:

"Garn along wid ye, mon; thee 'ull 'ave our Jack saying he won't in a minute or two wid ye worryin'."

The service was resumed.

Grasshoppers in Cages.

[From the Country Gentleman.]

In Italy there is a regular business in making tiny wire cages for grasshoppers to chirrup in. One of the Medici family, a cardinal, asked a bishop who was popular in Florence, but disliked by himself, to breakfast in his garden. The cardinal handed the bishop a glass of wine. At the moment a grasshopper fell from a tree into the wine, and the bishop left it. A servant then threw it away. The wine was afterwards known to have been poisoned. So the Italians think that a grasshopper brings good luck, and that if one can be kept alive in a cage for a month the year will be prosperous.

Two Points in View.

"Don't you think it a shame for the Vermont authorities to put Mrs. Rogers out of the world?" asked the sympathetic woman.

"I certainly do," replied the theatrical manager; "just think what a hit she'd make on the stage!"—Yonkers Statesman.

DENIES IMMUNITY TO HENRY WULFF

Postal Inspector to Seek True Bill Against Man Set Free by Foote.

THINKS CASE LIKE LOBB'S.

Commissioner Says He Decided on Merits of Evidence and Quotes Authority.

Following the discharge yesterday morning of Henry Wulff by United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote, the postal authorities declared that they would try to obtain a federal indictment against the former state treasurer for his connection with the get rich quick scheme known as the Continental Finance company. Inspector Stuart of the secret service says the evidence of Wulff's implication in the matter is identical with the evidence against Justus Lobb, the secretary of the company, whom Commissioner Footoe held to the grand jury.

Inspectors Stuart and Ketcham will go over the commissioner's head and lay the case before the next federal grand jury. They started in yesterday to collect additional evidence of Wulff's alleged responsibility.

While considerable surprise was expressed by the postoffice inspectors that Wulff should have been discharged by the commissioner, others pointed out that both Foote and Wulff are republican politicians and residents of the same ward. They are members of the same political organizations, including the Twenty-seventh Ward Republican club, of which Foote has been secretary and in which Wulff has been an ardent worker for years. Among Wulff's friends are certain members of the so-called "federal crowd" of politicians who dispense among other patronage the offices of United States commissioners.

Foote Long a Willing Worker.

In addition it was pointed out that one of the character witnesses for Wulff was United States Commissioner Wirt Humphrey, a friend of Commissioner Foote. Another friend of Wulff is the brother-in-law of Commissioner Foote. Commissioner Foote long has been one of the federal crowd's willing workers. He was a member of the Deneen delegation which the Twenty-seventh ward sent to the republican state convention last year. One of the most exciting incidents of the convention was the row which grew out of Foote's desertion of Deneen for Lowden, the candidate of the federal crowd.

"I emphatically deny the truth of these suggestions," said Commissioner Foote last night. "I discharged Wulff on legal grounds. I know Wulff, but not intimately, and he is not a friend of mine. We speak when we meet, but that is all. It is true that we are both republican organization workers in the same ward, but we are members of opposing factions. I have always been allied with Judge McEwen. Wulff has always been one of the 'outs.' He attends club meetings and conventions, but generally he is found leading a crowd of bolters across the street. This talk of influence is all rot.

Foote Quotes a Precedent.

"In discharging Wulff I relied on a number of legal precedents, the best illustration of which is the Bittinger case some three years ago. Bittinger and Foulet were brought before me in connection with the Daytonia company, which was charged with perpetrating frauds in connection with land deals in Honduras. It was shown that Bittinger was the real organizer and active manager of the concern. Foulet merely sat in the office and signed the letters handed to him. It was shown conclusively that he was ignorant of the real acts of the concern, and the district attorney himself moved the discharge of Foulet.

"The Wulff case is almost identical with that one. Wulff appears to have signed various letters without knowledge of their real import. Besides he had the opinions of eminent counsel, among them that of Former Judge Shope, that his course was legal."

"But does ignorance excuse a person from legal responsibility for committing a crime?" the commissioner was asked.

"Well, no," he replied. "But this is an extremely complicated case, you know. It would not be too much to suppose that Wulff did not understand the schemes concealed in the literature which Lobb devised. I read it through myself one night, and I confess I couldn't understand it all."

Evidence to Be Prepared.

Inspector Stuart detailed Inspector Ketcham to prepare evidence against Wulff for presentation to the grand jury. Inspector Ketcham then had a long conference with Assistant District Attorney Childs, who will handle the prosecution.

"We never present a case to a commissioner unless we feel certain that we have sufficient evidence to hold the defendant. When we start after a man whom the department considers guilty we don't stop short of the last ditch. I don't see how Lobb could be held and Wulff discharged, inasmuch as the evidence against each is identical. However, the action of the commissioner does not mean anything so far as the ultimate presentation of the case is concerned. We will submit the case to the grand jury and additional evidence will be secured."

HE WANTS A SERVIAN CHURCH.

Father Dabovich Will Appeal Today to the Delegates to Mutual Aid Association.

An effort will be made to interest the delegates of the Servian Mutual Aid society at their convention today in the organization of a new church. The movement is under the direction of the Very Rev. Sebastian Dabovich.

The new church is a branch of the Russian, and is intended to embrace all of the Slavonic population of America.

Father Dabovich was a priest in the Russian church until two months ago, when he applied for permission to organize and establish a church in America which should be entirely Servian.

Chicago has been the headquarters of the society during more than three years, and its jurisdiction extends to all parts of the country. Property already has been secured in Wicker Park for the erection of the first church in Chicago. The congregation now holds its services in a small hall on the proposed site.

RELIGIOUS PARADE TO BE HELD.

Italians in Melrose Park Secure an Injunction Prohibiting Interference with the Project.

Several hundred Italians will hold a religious parade in Melrose Park next Sunday, and they will march under the protection of the Circuit court. Judge John J. Healy yesterday enjoined the village officials from interfering with the proposed parade. The parade will be by members of the congregation of Virgin Mary of Mount Carmel, an Italian church of the Roman Catholic faith. Their parade will be in celebration of the "day of the Blessed Virgin Mary," according to the long established custom of the church.

At the Saddle and Cycle there is the customary gathering of people each evening. There have been small dinner parties almost nightly, but they are of the most informal order, the guests stopping in at the club on the way either to or from north shore points.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Smith, who have been at the Onwentsia club for some time, have gone east to spend three weeks. They will again stay at the club on their return.

Mr. and Mrs. George S. Payson, 88 Astor street, are summering at Hyannisport, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Moulton of Bellevue place are spending the summer in Highland Park.

The wedding of Miss Susan Elizabeth Turner, daughter of Mrs. Henry Turner, 420 Belden avenue, to Mr. Thomas A. Moran took place yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the family residence. Father Daniel Riordan performed the ceremony, only relatives being present. The bride, whose only attendant was her sister, Miss Frances Turner, wore a creation of Valenciennes and Irish crochet lace, a tulle veil, and carried lilies of the valley. Mr. Eugene Moran acted as best man for his brother. There were no groomsmen. Mr. and Mrs. Moran left in the evening for a three months' wedding journey in the east. On their return they will reside at 420 Belden avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Floris J. Allen, 4151 Langley avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Hortense, to Mr. Raymond P. Kelley. The wedding took place on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will be at home after Sept. 15 at 5800 Jackson avenue.

"LITTLE BROWN EYES" HELD.

Known to Police as Whirlwind and Accused of Stealing $3,000 Worth of Pig Lead.

Adam Colby, known to his friends as Little Brown Eyes, and to the police as a "whirlwind" in a fight, was held yesterday to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Foote under $2,500 bonds on a charge of breaking a bonded seal on a freight car, resulting in the theft of $3,000 worth of pig lead. With Colby were Michael Ostrowski, Frank Wittrowski, and Frank Puzdrowski, who were also held in $1,000 bonds. The men were arrested after a six weeks' search by secret service men.

BIG CAMP MEETING OPENS

MORE THAN 2,000 METHODISTS AT FIRST SESSION.

Congregate in the New Auditorium on the Desplaines Grounds—Service Ends with Cheers for the American Flag, Followed by Prayers for the Welfare of the Country—Many Cottagers Inconvenienced by a Mishap to a Train Carrying Goods.

More than 2,000 Methodists in their new auditorium yesterday attended the opening session of the forty-sixth annual camp meeting of the denomination at Desplaines. The Rev. F. A. Hardin was in charge, assisted by other member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and patriotism was blended with religion. Men who had fought in the civil war spoke and the services ended with cheers for the American flag, followed by prayers for the welfare of the country.

The Rev. Mr. Hardin, who was a colonel in the Fifty-first Indiana regiment, declared the unfurling of the flag on the first day of the camp meeting signified the religious freedom allowed to all in the United States.

"We are now under improved conditions," said Dr. Hardin, "surrounded by a wire fence and protected by an enlightened people. We are immune from the annoyances of former years."

Among other speakers on the program were the Rev. William H. Smith, formerly a chaplain in the United States army, and the Rev. John Lee.

Cottagers Inconvenienced by Wreck.

Many of the campers were inconvenienced when an engine attached to four cars, loaded with furniture, intended for the camp, jumped the tracks near the grounds. The accident happened in the morning and is believed to have been caused by spreading rails.

It was impossible to remove the furniture and baggage from the cars, and it was late in the afternoon before a wrecking crew from Chicago replaced the heavy engine on the rails. The train was taken back to the town of Desplaines. In the meantime cottagers were unable to secure their household goods.

Platform Meeting in Evening.

A platform meeting was held in the evening at which President D. W. Potter presided. The Canadian evangelists, the Rev. J. E. Hunter and H. T. Crossley, were introduced. Beginning today they will have charge of the entire religious services.

Your boy's life in boarding school is the most important period of his life. Be sure of the school if you want to be sure of the boy.

We take boys from 8 to 17 years old (the little fellows are entirely separated from the older boys), and develop the good—moral, mental and physical—that's in them; the best way to eliminate the bad. There is always some bad even in a good boy; we don't take the really bad ones. This method is different from adding so much learning and sending the boy home as he came, plus the learning; the difference is often the difference between a developed success and a smart failure.

The boy gets some military training. We have turned out Rhodes scholarship winners. Our catalogue will interest you if you have a boy. Let us send you a copy.

RUST NEWS COMES FAST.

GOOD ADVANCE IN WHEAT ON INSISTENT DAMAGE REPORTS.

Claims of Smaller Country Acceptances on Bids in the Southwest Also an Influence—Northwest Traders Buy Wheat Here and Add to the Strength—May Corn Moves Up Under an Improved Demand Based on Hot Weather—Oats and Provisions.

News that the wheat trade had in homeopathic doses the day before was dealt out yesterday in more formidable allopathic form. Reports of black rust, smut and blight as a result of the hot weather following hard upon the recent rains in the spring wheat territory, and further claims that country sales of winter wheat were smaller were in evidence in larger number and in stronger terms. As buying power made a corresponding gain prices responded more readily and the market closed only ⅛c under top at net gains of 2c for July, 1⅛c for September and 1⅝c for December. Last prices were 87⅛c for July, 84⅜c for September, and 84⅜c-⅞c for December.

There were indications that the Minneapolis bull leaders tried the ancient and honorable game of opening their market lower to influence Chicago prices in order to buy cheaper here. Their alleged efforts met with partial success, a decline of ⅝c in local prices following their loss of ⅝c at the outset. Houses with northwest connections were buyers, mainly of December, almost from the start, and the lead was soon followed by local traders. After selling off to 82⅞c September rose steadily to 84⅞c, and December rallied to 84⅞c-85c from 82⅞c. The low point for July was 84⅛c and the high 87¼c. Trade in that delivery was small and the jump to the top came in about two minutes on an order to buy 50,000 bu, which started small shorts to cover.

The claims of blight and black rust covered a wide area, but all came via Minneapolis. Samples were said to be at hand there which showed black rust, and with equal positiveness some messages said samples supposed to be infected showed no signs of the pest.

Cash Wheat Advances More Slowly.

While southwest receipts showed little shrinkage the great majority of advices said the farmer was parting less freely with his wheat on the decline, and predicted that the first rush was over. The two points had 530,000 bu, compared with 192,000 bu last year. Cash prices were higher in both markets, but failed to go up as fast as futures, and Kansas City was said to be heavy at the advance. In the local cash market premiums for No. 2 red and No. 2 hard declined ½c, the demand, which came almost entirely from elevators, failing to advance the market more than 1c.

Receipts at all the primary markets aggregated 757,000 bu compared with 379,000 bu last year. Of this total the northwest points had only 100 cars, against 202 cars last year. A decrease of 600,000 bu was reported in Minneapolis stocks for four days. The weather map was favorable in the main and the forecast was for scattered showers in the central states only. Clearances at the seaboard were 81,000 bu and the seaboard reported sales of 40,000 bu low grade new wheat for export. Liverpool closed ⅛-¼d lower on cheaper Argentine offerings, Berlin ½c up, Budapest ⅝c off, and Paris steady to ½c off.

May Corn Becomes Leader.

Yesterday's corn market resulted in little changes in the September price, but a fair advance for new crop futures and July. A feature of the day was the shifting of trade into May. There were hints of unfavorable results in Kansas and southern Nebraska from hot weather. The big buying of May corn was by the Patten house, and there was some buying from the southwest. July closed ⅝c to ½c higher, after a dull trade. In the end old and new September showed a fractional loss for the day, or about in line with the cash market, which ruled steady to ¼c lower.

Local receipts were 185 cars and the estimate for today 251. Shipments were 338,000 bu. Primary markets had receipts of 533,000 bu, against 363,000 the same day last year. These points shipped 450,000 bu. Shipping sales were reported at 210,000 bu. The seaboard reported 64,000 bu taken for export. Country acceptances were light. Bartlett-Frazier led the early buying of July and September. Champlin and Comstock covered on the advance.

Oats Market Advances Easily.

There was a bull market in oats from first to last. Bids sent out for new oats met with small offers. Some samples of the new crop were not up to expectations in color and weight. The trade had reports that farmers were stacking oats rather than accept present prices. These influences brought an advance which carried the July from 30⅝c to 32c, May from 29c to 29⅝c, and the September up to 30⅛c. Last prices were ⅛c to ¼c under best figures. Cash oats ruled ¼c to ½c higher. Receipts were light at 84 cars and the estimate for today 98 cars. Shipping sales were 200,000 bu.

Provisions Lose Their Advance.

There was a strong start in the provision trade which carried September pork up to $13.02½, lard, same month, to $7.27½, and ribs to $7.97½. The early strength was caused largely by the 10@12½c advance in prices of hogs. Receipts for the day were 17,000 head, instead of 32,000 estimated. The advance in products was met by free sales, which made it appear that the property was on tap from leaders. This discouraged early buyers and they turned sellers. The market went back considerably for pork at $12.90, closing unchanged at $12.95, and lard and ribs closed close to Tuesday's prices. Brokers thought there was some Armour support at the close.

Rye, Barley, and Seeds.

Rye was dull. July was 66c bid, and September 60c bid. A car of old No. 2 sold at 75c f. o. b. Receipts, 1 car.

Barley was easier for low grades. Malting range was from 43@51c, feed from 40@42c, and screenings from 30@42½c. Receipts, 5 cars.

Flaxseed was unchanged. No. 1 northwestern was $1.40 and No. 1 $1.22½. Receipts, 4 cars at Minneapolis and none here or at Duluth.

Timothy seed ruled steady. September sold at $3.30, and March was $3.40 bid. Country lots $2.50@3.25, according to quality. July clover seed was quoted at $12.75@13.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

There were charters for 150,000 bu corn to Buffalo at 1⅛c.

Kansas City reported messages in that market asking for offers of round lots of No. 2 red for export into Mexico.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 91 cars; corn, 251 cars; oats, 98 cars; rye, none; barley, 5 cars; hogs 24,000 head.

New York wired Milmine-Bodman: "Foreign demand for wheat is poorer today. We are further out of line than we were."

Cash corn sold slowly to eastern buyers and prices on the tables were steady to ¼c lower. Shipping sales were 210,000 bu. Oats were ¼@½c higher and eastern distributers took 200,000 bu, largely for lake shipment.

San Francisco wired Logan-Bryan: "The weekly report of the agricultural department says grain harvesting and thrashing are progressing rapidly, but that the grain is far below the estimates in Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. Crop is fair in the coast district and excellent in southern California."

Acceptances of bids on new oats continued to run small, but a few cars are being consigned and several are expected in the market today. Lowell Holt had the first car of new oats on the crop yesterday. The oats came from Galesville, Ill., and graded no grade, selling at 30c. They showed the effects of being wet in shock and were heating. Acceptances of corn were extremely light from all the territory covered by local bidders.

"A new feature of this crop of wheat is that it is more evenly distributed than I have ever known it," said a cash broker. "It is not poor anywhere. The east will not draw so extensively from the west, we will not draw on Oregan and California, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio will not draw on us, and the northwest will pull out of the western markets in thirty or forty days. Toledo offered wheat c. i. f. Buffalo yesterday at less than it was selling at on tables here."

Some local cash houses reported it was much harder to buy wheat in the country. One broker said he could not buy within 2½c of Monday's prices. Nebraska farmers were reported to be stacking their wheat and putting it away rather than sell on the decline. Some cash men reported acceptances fair, and one said his purchases were larger and that he did not think the movement would let up materially. Southwestern advices were all of a color, however. A wire from St. Louis to McReynolds said: "Receivers say country acceptances of soft wheat on last night's bids are the smallest since the movement started."

Futures advanced faster than cash wheat prices in all markets yesterday. Local differences were cut about ½c, No. 2 red selling at 88¼@88⅝c, or 1@1½c over July, with the bulk of the business at 1¼c over, and No. 2 hard at 87@87½c, or 1c over July. Demand from mills was slow, most of them getting their supplies nearer home and elevators are taking the offerings. Sales to mills were 10,000 bu. A car of northern Nebraska No. 1 northern sold at $1.12 f. o. b. Kansas City was firm with sales of No. 2 red at 81¼@82¼c. St. Louis reported sales 1@1½c higher, No. 2 red at 87@88c, No. 3 red at 82½@85c and No. 2 hard at 86@90c, the outside for Turkey. Baltimore reported a sale of 40,000 bu low grade wheat for export at 78⅝c f. o. b. steamer. Minneapolis was 1c higher for No. 1 northern in store, the price $1.08½, and Duluth was $1.09.

Messages from Minneapolis telling of havoc played in spring wheat fields by black rust, smut, and blight were legion, but denials of damage and claims conditions were up to an average or better were as numerous. The scoffers at damage told of samples received supposedly infected with black rust which were proved by experts to be free from rust except on the blades and not on the stem, as most of the wheat is barely heading. Other experts, presumably as expert, saw black rust. A message to Logan-Bryan said: "Samples from Aberdeen and Cakopa, S. D., sent to the state experimental station were declared to show black rust." The fact that wheat is in the critical stage and will be for three weeks, and the fact that the disastrous rust developed about this time last year made many put faith in the reports. Webster, S. D., wired Pringle-Fitch-Rankin: "Similar conditions developed rust with us last year, and the plant is now at the point to take on infection. Crop will be quite spotted at best." One to Ware-Leland: "Samples of wheat sent here show wilt and a great deal of red rust in second stage, which means a great chance for black, unless we have continued dry, cool weather." One to Love: "Rollin Smith says considerable damage in southwestern Minnesota by blight. Without further damage may raise average crop; cannot possibly raise big crop."

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Early in the day the hog market at the stockyards broke the record for the season. The top was $6.17½. There was a general advance of 10c and this was maintained, but the packers finally succeeded in forcing values back to the level. All the offerings were not disposed of. The hogs most in demand were from 160 to 225 lbs.

The cattle market was irregular. Values ranged from steady to 10c higher. An improved tone was apparent, however, in the trading. The outside demand lacked energy. The quality of offerings was inferior and few prime steers were in sight. Good steers sold within a range of $4.65 to $4.90. Butcher cattle were little in demand. Canners and cutters were lifeless. Stockers were dull, with values steady.

The demand for sheep and lambs was slight, although the receipts were far from heavy. Some prime native lambs brought $7.75, but the general average was $7.50. Sheep values generally were steady.

"EXTRA" DIVIDEND ON I. C.

DECLARATION OF 3 PER CENT REGULAR A DISAPPOINTMENT.

Wall Street Expecting Announcement of 3½ Per Cent Basis and Result Is Decline of 1⅜ in Price of Shares—Shipbuilding Directors Make Rate on Common 4—Sons of D. F. Bremner Building a Competing Biscuit Plant.

Illinois Central directors yesterday declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent and an extra dividend of ½ per cent. It had been asserted positively for some time that the distribution would be a regular 3½ per cent one. There was consequently disappointment in the market when the dividend announcement was made, and the stock at once lost 1⅜ points.

It seems unimportant whether the dividend should have been declared as it was or as the street had expected. As long as earnings continue to be large the stock will undoubtedly get 7 per cent. The extra dividend of ½ per cent paid six months ago was declared for the ostensible reason that it was the occasion of the fiftieth consecutive dividend. But the earnings have warranted another distribution this time, merely as a matter of increase in dividend rate. The ½ per cent extra may be continued for a period of years before making it permanent.

Ship Common Gets 4 Per Cent.

American Shipbuilding directors declared a common stock dividend of 4 per cent out of earnings, payable in four quarterly installments, beginning Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 20. The talk of an extra dividend of 2 per cent came out of Mr. Brown's office, although he was not responsible for its utterance. Cleveland had the same idea, but the board pursued its original intention of declaring simply 4 per cent.

New Opposition Biscuit Factory.

The sons of D. F. Bremner of the National Biscuit company are building a biscuit plant at Forquer street and Blue Island avenue, which they expect to have in operation in September. It will be conducted in opposition to the large company. Mr. Bremner, it is said, will continue as a member of the directory of the National company. The new plant will be operated by the Bremner brothers.

The National Biscuit company, it is understood, proposes to meet this competition through the Bolivar Biscuit company at Blue Island avenue and Halsted street. This company gets its goods from the old Bremner bakery under an agreement with the National Biscuit company.

Western Stone.

President Madden of the Western Stone company is quoted as saying:

"We have the money to pay a fair dividend on the stock. Some of the board favored ordering a disbursement at the last meeting, but deferred the same on my recommendation. We are not involved in the present labor troubles and do not expect to be. But the conservative side is the safest, and if we are drawn into the trouble later it would be well to have plenty of money on hand. The dividend can be paid in a lump sum at the year's end."

Dividends Declared.

The Illinois Central dividends are payable Sept. 1. Books close Aug. 1 and reopen Aug. 21.

The American Light and Traction company declared a quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on its common stock, placing it on a 4 per cent basis. The regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent also has been declared on preferred stock, both payable Aug. 1. Books close July 22. Reopen Aug. 2.

The Boston Elevated railroad company declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent, payable Aug. 5.

The Western Telephone and Telegraph company declared a semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent on preferred stock, payable Aug. 1, to holders of record at close of business July 21. Books close July 22. Reopen Aug. 1.

Directors of the Automatic Electric company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable Aug. 1. Books close July 25. Reopen Aug. 2.

Cambria Steel company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 1½ per cent, or 75c per share, payable Aug. 15, to stock of record July 3.

The Chicago Edison company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable Aug. 1. Books close July 22 and reopen Aug. 2.

The National Steel and Wire company has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its preferred stock, payable Aug. 2. Books close July 21 and reopen Aug. 2.

The Omaha Electric Light and Power company has sold to N. W. Harris & Co. an issue of $1,200,000 first mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds. The company controls the electric light and power business in Omaha and South Omaha, with the exception of a small amount of power in Omaha, and by ownership of stock controls the entire gas, electric light, and power business in Council Bluffs, serving a total population of about 170,000. The bonds will be offered on the market shortly.

The company has been paying dividends of 5 per cent annually on its preferred stock since August, 1903.

Chicago Stocks.

Trading in Biscuit stocks broadened materially in the common shares, and the price closed ½ below the opening, but better than the low figures. There was considerable selling in New York, credited to C. G. Gates & Co. On the local exchange Henry C. Hackney and J. H. Wrenn & Co. were the large sellers. The Wrenn people disposed of 500 or 600 shares, and selling by the firm had more significance than that of other sales, with the exception of those of Hackney. The preferred stock was better bought than the common and closed at 113.

In addition to uneasiness among investors, there is considerable muttering in the street over the published announcement of the fact that competition is increasing fast, and that there is a wide difference of opinion over the policy of the management among the large shareholders. But there is nothing sacred about Biscuit stock, and if it is not worth as much as it has been thought to be the prudent investor will profit by the information. The other kinds of investors will lose their money anyway.

Chicago Subway advanced to 78¼ and closed practically at the top. The advance is persistent and there is no idea where it will stop or how far back the stock will drop when the advance does stop. However, A. G. Wheeler said yesterday the stock would be selling at par within a year.

Chicago Edison sold at 160. The stock is firm around this price. American Shipbuilding common advanced on announcement of the dividend. There was little of interest in the remainder of the market.

IN FOREIGN PRODUCE MARKETS.

LONDON, July 19.—Money was more wanted in the market today in connection with the final payment of the Japanese March loan, although the requirements were comparatively small, owing to the large amounts paid up under discount. Discounts were influenced by continental exchanges and the foreign demand for gold. Trading on the stock exchange was quiet and featureless. Consols were easier. Americans opened dull, moved generally to above par, and became fairly steady. The market closed dull. Foreigners were fairly upheld. Japanese relapsed a fraction. Japanese imperial 6s of 1904 were quoted at 103⅞.

We offer, subject to prior sale, $85,000 Fostoria, Ohio, Water Works Bonds yielding 3.90 per cent on the investment. Denominations one thousand dollars, interest payable March and September first.

RAILROAD LIKELY TO LOSE CHARTER

State's Attorney Plans Prosecution for Alleged Overcapitalization.

POINTS TO THE ALTON.

Secret Conference of Attorneys Is Held—Big Legal Battle Is Expected.

Preliminary steps were taken yesterday for the prosecution by the state's attorney of some railroad for gross violation of the law, and circumstantial evidence points to the Chicago and Alton as the railroad. A conference between State's Attorney Healy and attorneys Julius A. Johnson, W. R. Crawford, and Ralph M. Shaw occurred yesterday morning, at which Johnson and Crawford laid before the state's attorney the facts in the case, and Mr. Shaw represented the railroad. All parties to the conference are maintaining the strictest secrecy concerning what took place behind the locked and guarded doors of Mr. Healy's private office.

Rumors of the conference spread upon the streets and in the railroad offices while it was still in progress, and it was confidently declared by many men that if the state's attorney took up the matter the Alton would have its hands full in defending one of the most important railroad cases that have ever been brought before the courts of Cook county. The one theory which gained most credence on the street regarding the nature of the proposed proceedings was that they were to be quo warranto proceedings brought against the Alton to oust them out of their charter, on the ground that they have violated the state railroad act by overcapitalization and a fictitious issue of stocks and bonds.

Practically Admit Alton Is the Road.

Both Attorneys Johnson and Shaw practically admitted that it was the Alton road which was to be proceeded against, and neither of them would deny that the excessive capitalization of the road was to form a part at least of the basis for the action.

"The question of the overcapitalization of the Alton, and the alleged fictitious issue of stocks and bonds, was presented to the railway and warehouse commission at Springfield last week," said Mr. Johnson. "It is a perfectly proper proceeding for the state's attorney of any county to bring action against a railroad to make them vacate their charter for any violation of the law prohibiting overcapitalization, if the attorney general does not do so. But there is more to this case than that, and I can say this, that it is one of the most important cases that have ever been brought to the attention of the state's attorney in this county. Mr. Healy, however, is the one who should make the facts known to the public, and as he does not care to say anything at this time I do not think it would be right or courteous of me to say anything at present."

To Hold Matter Over Till Fall.

The conference with State's Attorney Healy lasted for three hours yesterday, but, because Mr. Healy is about to start on his vacation, it was decided to lay the whole matter over until the September term. Mr. Healy refused to divulge the nature of the proceedings which he is asked to bring against the railroad, and declared that as yet the matter was of no public interest and would not be until he had fully examined into the charges which had been made and decided whether to take any action.

"Owing to the reticence of Mr. Healy I do not feel that I have any right to discuss this case," said Mr. Shaw. "No, I cannot deny that it is the Chicago and Alton that is to be proceeded against, but I would prefer that you do not ask me any more questions, for I must decline to answer them."

Who the Attorneys Are.

W. R. Crawford is a son of Henry Crawford, who at one time appeared as attorney for the receivers of the Union Traction company. Ralph M. Shaw is a member of the firm of Winston, Payne and Strawn, and is said to have represented the railroad at the conference. He also represented the Michigan Central railroad at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission when the fruit growers of Michigan sought to compel that road and the Père Marquette to reduce the refrigeration charges on their shipments of fruit.

Western railroad officials are said to be at sea relative to the announcement that the United States government is about to bring suit for violation of the Elkins law by paying rebates to terminal railroads here. It is stated that the interstate commerce commission heard the cases last fall and decided that, while the allowances to the International Harvester company's railroad, the Pullman company's line, and the steel company's terminals were not unlawful, the divisions in effect were excessive, and the commission recommended a switching charge of from $1 to $3.50 a car. The railroads accepted the decision, took out their divisions, and put in a switching charge of $3.50 per car.

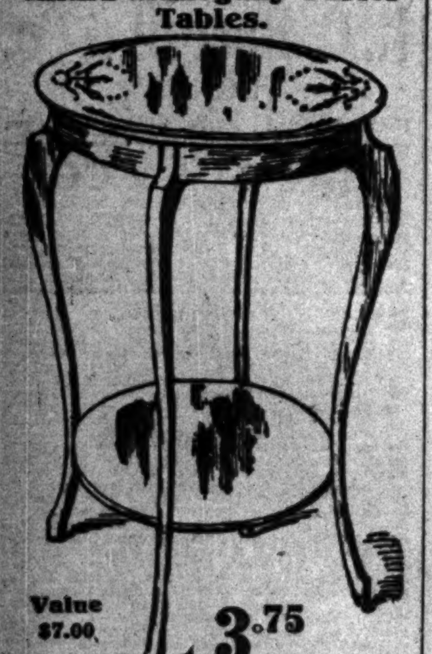

BIG BUSINESS IN PIG IRON.

Sales Increase During Week, Says Trade Review, Especially in Chicago, Cleveland, and Cincinnati.

CLEVELAND, O., July 19.—[Special.]—The principal development of the week, says the Iron Trade Review, has been a marked increase in the sales of pig iron, especially in Chicago, Cleveland, and Cincinnati, in each of which cities more than 50,000 tons were sold. In finished lines the sales were large, the demand for structural shapes being especially strong.

Manufacturers of plates and structural material have decided not to advance prices. The blast furnace statistics show that during June iron was manufactured at a rate which indicates a production of nearly 22,000,000 tons for the year.

TRADING IN WALL STREET, HOWEVER, IS PROFESSIONAL.

Revival of Rumors Regarding Northern Securities Affairs Responsible for Increased Breadth of Dealings—Belief Union Pacific Will Declare 5 Per Cent Dividend Does Not Have Effect and Sale of Assets of That Road Gained Credence.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, July 19.—[Special.]—The stock market revived a bit today, but kept within professional limits. The increased breadth of the market was owing almost wholly to the revived effect of rumors regarding Northern Securities affairs. The fixed belief that the dividend on Union Pacific is to be increased to a 5 per cent rate at tomorrow's meeting of directors has apparently lost its efficiency, and then it was reported that there was to be a sale of Union Pacific's Northern Securities assets.

The action of Illinois Central was not encouraging to those who are hoping for rising prices to follow news of increased dividends. Rumor was busy with an alleged meeting of Erie directors to declare an initial dividend on the second preferred stock, but these also were unsubstantiated. Pittsburg Coal preferred suffered from the passing of its quarterly dividend. The poor annual showing of the International Mercantile Marine company was not without some effect in the market.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,320,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

Money on call easy, 1¾@2 per cent; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 2. Time loans easy; 60 and 90 days, 3@3¼ per cent; 6 months, 4; prime mercantile paper, 4@4¼ per cent; sterling exchange weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.50@486.55 for demand and at 484.70@484.75 for 60 days' bills; posted rates, 485½ and 487½. Commercial bills, 484⅜. Bar silver, 59¼. Mexican dollars, 45½c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds irregular.

TOMATO PRICES ARE LOWERED.

A liberal run of tomatoes, 23 cars, and only a limited demand, caused a sharp decline in prices. Peaches also sold lower, the arrivals mostly being speckled on account of the heat. Potatoes were again forced down 2c. Watermelons continued in good inquiry and firm.

That's the Goverment Weather Bureau's report of Tuesday's maximum temperatures. It was even cooler—much cooler—in the higher mountain resorts.

There is No Humidity in Colorado and Heat Prostration is Unknown

Every evening at 5 o'clock the Burlington's famous "Number One," electric-lighted throughout and as fine as modern ingenuity can make it, leaves Chicago's Union Station, to arrive in Denver next evening at 7.30. Another good train is No. 3, leaving Chicago at 10:30 p. m., to arrive in Denver at 7:30 the second morning. Low rate tickets on sale daily.

SPECIAL DISEASES.

DOCTOR SWEANY,

Longest Established, Most Successful and Reliable Specialist in Diseases of Men, as Medical Diplomas, Licenses and Newspaper Records Show.

MEN, DON'T WAIT until your whole system is polluted with disease, or until your nervous system is tottering under the strain, and you become a physical and mental wreck, unfit for work, study or business. Uncertain, improper, or half-way treatment can only do harm. The worst cases I have treated were those that had been improperly treated before coming to me, some having been maimed for life by bungling surgical procedures. I cure by restoring and preserving important organs. I do not advocate their mutilation or destruction in an effort to make a quick cure. Every afflicted man owes it to himself, his family, and to the future generations to get cured SAFELY and thoroughly.

I MAKE NO MISLEADING STATEMENTS or deceptive propositions to the afflicted in order to secure their patronage. An honest doctor of recognized ability does not resort to such methods. I guarantee a COMPLETE, SAFE AND LASTING CURE in the QUICKEST POSSIBLE TIME, without leaving injurious after effects in the system, and at the lowest cost possible for HONEST, SKILLFUL and SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT. I CURE

ENLARGED VEINS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, BLOOD POISON, AND KIDNEY DISEASES,

And all diseases and weaknesses due to inheritance, injurious habits, exhaustion, or the result of specific diseases.

CONSULTATION AND EXAMINATION FREE. Write for Symptom Blank If You Cannot Call.
